Greenfelders start new scholarship

By Michelle G. Berens
Editor

Saint Leo College (SLC) has received a gift from Mr. and Mrs. Glen Greenfelder of Powers Burgers Incorporated, owners of several Checkers Restaurants. The gift of $1,000 will be used for a scholarship in the current academic year for a student in the SLC Restaurant & Hotel Management program.

Greenfelder is a 1961 graduate of Saint Leo Preparatory School and has been a member of the College's board of trustees since 1978. He is a senior partner in the Dade City law firm of Greenfelder, Mander, Hanson, Murphy, and Dwyer, P.A. He also serves as attorney for the city of San Antonio, FL.

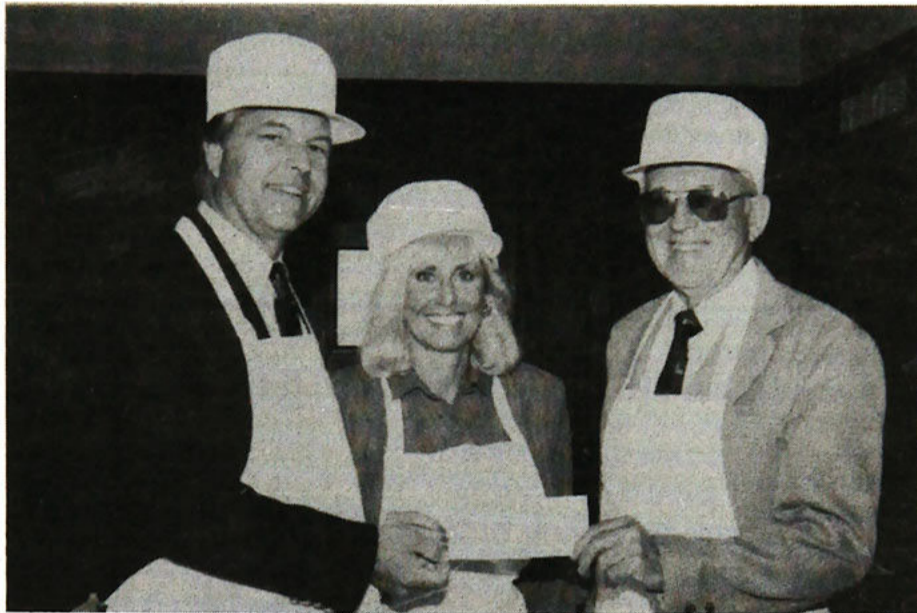

Mrs. Greenfelder became a Checkers franchisee in 1990. She is the founder of Powers Burgers, Inc. which presently operates Checkers units in Dade City, Bartow, and Haines City. The Sebring store will open in about two weeks, and the Avon Park store is scheduled to open in December.

The Restaurant & Hotel Management program has become a popular course of study at SLC. Plans for expansion include the establishment of an endowed chair which would bring a distinguished expert in the hospitality field onto the campus to join the faculty.

Graduates of the program are employed with such major corporations as Disney World, Stouffer's Hotels, Hilton Hotels, General Mills, Marriott Corporation and The Breakers in West Palm Beach.

Harry Purchase, faculty member of SLC almost six years before he retired in 1990, established the Restaurant & Hotel Management program at SLC in 1985, and has returned to operate the program this semester while the search for a new program director is underway.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Greenfelder deliver a $1,000 check to Mr. Harry Purchase.

AMA contributes $300 to student book fund

By Michelle G. Berens
Editor

As students from south Florida arrived at Saint Leo College to begin their fall semester, the student chapter of the American Marketing Association (AMA) decided to aid those in financial need. The AMA contributed $300 for students to purchase textbooks and other essentials from the Campus Store.

While the American Marketing Association usually gives annual monetary gifts to Campus Ministry, Dr. Frank Arnold, AMA advisor, commented, "This year, the AMA saw the need for an additional contribution."

Arnold said that, as a professional student organization, the AMA felt a sense of social responsibility to help those in need.

The money from fund-raising activities, such as selling SLC wrist watches and care packages, was used to assist the victims of this year's hurricane.

Fall Festival Weekend begins

By Kimberly Weissman
News Editor

A month of school has gone by and new and returning students are still getting settled into their new environment. Parents are learning to cope with their son's or daughter's absence from the home, and to help ease this transition, on October 23-25, Saint Leo College is holding its annual Fall Festival Weekend. This year's theme is entitled "At the Hop," and the Fall Festival Weekend will be centered around the 50's.

This event allows some of the parents of Saint Leo students to visit the campus, meet with student advisors, preview the first theater production, participate in the talent show, attend a reception and dinner with Monsignor Mouch, and much more. One of the most colorful events of the festival is the annual parade. Each club and organization exhibits a float that relates to their club and the year's theme.

Also at the festival, the crowning of the senior King and Queen will take place, exemplifying an active school spirit. Saint Leo College looks forward to celebrating a fantastic weekend with you and your families and knows this annual campus tradition will be a success as always.

SLC Theater season opens

By Thomas Turcotte
Associate Editor

On October 21st through the 25th, the Saint Leo College Theater Department will present Waiting for Godot by Samuel Beckett. The play was first produced in 1953, and had its American debut in 1956 at the Coconut Grove Playhouse in Miami. "Since then it has been widely recognized as one of the most important plays in the 20th century" noted Professor David Frankel, associate professor of Theater.

The play is about two men waiting for Godot, although the play never mentions why they are waiting. It is made up of the events that occur during their waiting period and reveals a lot about life.

Frankel will direct a cast of five SLC students. The cast includes Lenee Essig, Ami Salee, Scott Graham, Jessica Simmons and Bridgette Johnson. Frankel commented "I'm excited to be working on this play, which is one I have been wanting to work on for some time." In an odd twist, Frankel has decided to cast five women in the play's five male roles. Frankel explained that this adds another dimension to the characters and the play.

Tickets are now available in the Box Office from 2 - 4:30 p.m. on M - F. Tickets are free to students, but reservations are required. Student's tickets are paid for out of the mandatory activity fee. The Friday showing is sold out for the Fall Festival Weekend. The showings are 7:30 p.m. on Weds., Thurs., Fri. and Sat. The matinee is 3 p.m. on Sunday. The students will also perform the play on Nov. 10 at Daytona Beach Community College for the American College Theater Festival.

The theater schedule for the 92 - 93 year is as follows: Following Waiting for Godot, "More Short Takes" will be performed in the Studio Theater on November 18 through the 22nd. The two one act plays that make up the performance will be directed by Scott Graham, sophomore theater major, and Professor Frankel. This is the fourth year that the theater department has performed a night of one act plays. On February 24th through the 28th, Professor Dennis Henry, Chair-

Scott Graham catches some sleep after an exhausting theater rehearsal.

AT&T offers new student discount phone plan

Special to the Monarch

AT&T announced the first discount plan for college students to save between 5 and 20 percent on all interstate and international calls made using an AT&T Calling Card. The discounts can add up to significant savings and allow more time to talk with loved ones and friends.

"This is just one way AT&T offers value to our college customers," said Rob Depue, AT&T college marketing manager. "We want to do more than just save you money on AT&T calls—we want to make phoning home easier than ever. Combining the flexibility of the AT&T

Are greeks required for bonding?

Special to the Monarch

Recently, one of the most prevalent activities on campus has been the pledging of the fraternities and the sororities. Every student who considers pledging should consider a few things first.

Pledging is hell. This is very clear even from an outsider's point of view. Stories of pledges having to get by on a couple hours of sleep a night are not uncommon. The reasoning behind this hell period is equally clear. It is believed that "brotherhood" and "sisterhood" can be more firmly established when pledges experience difficulties together. A bond is formed when they go through these difficulties. I don't doubt that there is strong friendship within the greek organizations, but I firmly believe that they are not necessary to form strong friendships.

The idea that experiences bring friends closer holds a great deal of truth. However, these experiences occur regardless of whether or not you go through a strenuous pledging period. Everyone has these bonding experiences. It's called life. All friends bond and become stronger because they go through life together. Friends depend on one another in their times of sorrow and celebrate with one another in their times of joy. This is what creates a true bond. These bonding experiences happen naturally in life. There is no need for "brotherhoods" and "sisterhoods" to fabricate these traumas in order to cause bonding to take effect. Life will bring about more than enough opportunities to create bonds of friendship stronger than any organization can claim. Don't join a greek organization simply because you want to experience this "true friendship". True friendship happens naturally. No organizations are necessary to bring them about.

Organizations, little tasks, ceremonies, chants and exhaustion doesn't bring about bonds of friendship. People do. Everyone. Greeks and Non-Greeks alike.

ASK MR. COLLEGE

Q. Dear Mr. College: Sometimes, on weekends, my room-mate comes in as late as midnight, I suppose he tries to be quiet. But he always ends up waking me up! What should I do to stop this inconsiderate behavior?—Sleepy

A. Dear Sleepy: He comes in AS LATE AS MIDNIGHT?! Ooooo! This IS serious. Normally I don't advocate violence, but in this case...well, GOD MAN! WHAT CHOICE DO I HAVE?! I think you should messily kill and dismember him (JUST KIDDING). Lighten up pal.

Q. Dear Mr. College: People make fun of me constantly. All over campus, everywhere I go it's insults, insults insults. Oh Mr. College, Why is this. Why? Why? Why? Please tell me! Please! Please! Please!—Beside Myself

A. Dear Beside: I don't know for sure. I can only guess. But I think it's because you're really annoying, annoying, annoying.

Q. Dear Mr. College: Don't you hate it when you ask a person a question, and their answer has nothing to do with what you asked?—Curious

A. Dear Curious: Let me just say this about that; many times in life you will encounter objects or things which are different than what one might expect. It is our ability to rise above this that separates us from the apes. That and the opposable thumb.

Q. Dear Mr. College: Why do you have such a lousy attitude?—Curious

A. Dear Curious: I don't have a lousy attitude you stupid idiot.

Q. Dear Mr. College: For the daily double: He's short and rich, he had the itch. Our light he lit, he ran he quit.—Alex

A. Dear Alex: Who is...Ross Perot?!

Q. Dear Mr. College: Can you help me? I just don't know what to do! Nobody takes me seriously!—Frustrated

A. HA HA HA HA HA! That's a good one! You kill me!

HEY! Got a question or comment for Mr. College?
Go ahead. Make my day.

President's Corner

The new face on campus this month belongs to our recently appointed Director of Campus Ministry, Father Michael O'Brien. On behalf of us all, I welcome him to our community. With the support of Bishop Favalora of this diocese, Father O'Brien is leaving the parish he founded four years ago (St. Joan of Arc, Spring Hill) in order to help us at Saint Leo College.

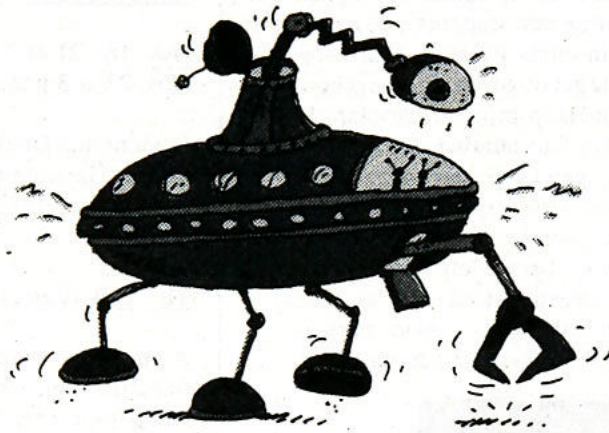

Since he has demonstrated interest, vitality, and competence in working with young people before, I am confident that Father O'Brien will make a real contribution to the life of the campus. Since he has also evidenced successful leadership in his parish responsibilities, I am equally secure in his ability to collaborate with our faculty and staff.

But, in connection with all this positive feeling, I feel obliged to add that no one person is responsible for the spirit, particularly the religious spirit, of the college. Father O'Brien has accepted the task of providing leadership to us all in making Saint Leo College reflect the religious character that has been ours by reason of our founding and which continues to be an essential dimension of the college by reason of the conscious intention of its trustees, administrators, faculty, students, and supporters. Just as we have the responsibility to see that we become a better institution of higher learning, so we have a similar duty to accentuate that which makes us a Catholic college. We must be true to ourselves.

I hope that the entire campus community will welcome the contribution Father O'Brien is making to our lives and will support his efforts. By our common concern and collaboration we will make this college a stronger, more effective place for all to live and grow.

"You know, it's so ridiculous. If I don't call my parents every Sunday at exactly 5 o'clock, they think I was kidnapped by aliens, or something. Anyway, one Sunday me and Mark, we decide to take-off and check out the city. So we're hanging out and I look at my watch. 5 o'clock. Alright, so my calling card and I head down to the local pool hall. (Which I happen to know has a payphone.) And I tell the folks the Martians send their best."

No matter where you happen to be, the AT&T Calling Card can take you home.

It's also the least expensive way to call state-to-state on AT&T, when you can't dial direct. With the new AT&T Call and Save Plan, you'll get special discounts on AT&T Calling Card calls.* And once you have your card, you'll never need to apply for another.

If you get your Calling Card now, your first call will be free.** And you'll become a member of AT&T Student Saver Plus, a program of products and services that saves students time and money.

All of which makes the AT&T Calling Card out of this world.

To get an AT&T Calling Card for off-campus calling, call 1 800 654-0471 Ext. 850.

© 1992 AT&T. *Pending FCC approval. Please call above 800 number for details. **You'll receive one $1 ATRV L.D. Certificate equivalent to 22 minutes of card or direct-dialed, coast-to-coast, night and weekend calling based on rates effective 6/8/92. You could get more or fewer minutes depending on where or when you call. Offer limited to one certificate per student.

Why are SLC dances always so unsuccessful?

By Kimberly Weissman
News Editor

Every once in a while a club or organization will hold a dance as a fund raiser to help pay for t-shirts, socials, banquets, etc. Why is it that these dances never seem to be a hit on campus? In pondering this question, which seems to lack an easy answer, one student comments, "I don't understand why dances aren't popular on campus. The dances usually don't get exciting till a few hours into the night and even then, students who come at the beginning leave since no one's there."

This brings up a comment from another student who says, "The best way to make a dance at Saint Leo a success is to stay, even if not many students have arrived yet, and have a pleasant time. Before you know it, more students will accumulate and others will continue to come because more students attending will inspire others to stay." It makes good sense if you think about it.

These fund-raising dances are a great way of meeting new students, and a time to just plain enjoy yourself. More students should get involved in these school functions and help improve school spirit. One or two dollars admission is a cheap, fun way to spend a Friday or Saturday night, and saves the expenses of a trip to Tampa every weekend to frequent the same clubs or bars. Help support the Saint Leo organizations and become involved on campus. If everyone participates, you definitely won't be disappointed.

Saint Leo Alma Mater Survey

Recently, there has been some discussion about changing the words and tune to the Saint Leo Alma Mater.

The present Alma Mater reads as follows:

*Loyal friends assembled here
Praise our Alma Mater Dear
Stir those memories deeply felt
Throughout the years*

*Loyal lions true and bold
For Saint Leo's Green and Gold
Work and pray that
Throughout the years, love endures*

*Honored deeds as yet untold
Fill our hallowed hearts of old
Let us lift our gaze beyond
To truth and God*

Saint Leo, Saint Leo, Saint Leo.

In order to have your voice heard in this matter, please take a few minutes to fill out this survey.

Attention Sophomore Students: Now is the time to begin to examine the career field you would like to work in after college. Here are just a few points to consider as you explore various majors and career fields:

*Get involved in departmental clubs and activities, student leadership activities, volunteer work, and career exploration workshops. Involvement in school activities building leadership and communication skills to be used in the world-of-work.

*Explore careers very thoroughly. Look into job responsibilities, market outlook, training needed, rewards offered, and lifestyle implications of targeted career field(s).

*Create and build a Self-Assessment List. List interests, strengths, skills, abilities, and values that you hold. Discuss your findings with the Career Advisor. Develop your list by taking an interest inventory in the Career Development Center.

Come to the Career Development Center in St. Edward's Hall for more information on the following:

INTERNSHIPS:

*The Tampa Sports Authority is now accepting applications for its spring and summer internship programs. The deadline for application is October 15th for a spring internship and March 10th for a summer internship. Interns must have a minimum 3.0 GPA in related sports management classes and a positive attitude. Intern will be exposed to the following areas: administration (including policies, procedures, legal and insurance requirements, budgeting, personnel and supervisory practices), and facility & operations (including long-range planning, facility design, event management and maintenance).

Florida Leader offers student scholarships

Special to the Monarch

Do you, as a Florida college student, support yourself through school, earn outstanding grades, and involve yourself in college and community activities? If you've answered yes to the above question, you could win a share of more than $30,000 in scholarships and prizes in the sixth annual "Florida College Student of the Year" award sponsored by Florida Leader magazine.

These scholarships and prizes have been donated by many Florida businesses including First Union National Banks, Winn-Dixie, Zenith, and Busch Gardens who support excellence in education.

The Student of the Year, the five finalists, the first runner-up and the thirteen honorable mention winners will be featured in the "Student of the Year" issue of Florida Leader and will also earn statewide media recognition.

"Florida's most outstanding students strive to make a difference, to have a positive influence at their colleges and in their communities," says W.H. "Butch" Oxendine, Jr., publisher of Florida Leader magazine. "They are admirable examples of self-reliant student leaders who understand the importance of striving for excellence, whether it be in classwork or community service."

Applications for the "Florida College Student of the Year" contest can be picked up in the Office of Public Affairs or in the Student Activities Office. All applications must be postmarked by February 1, 1993 to be eligible.

If you need more information or have specific questions about the award or eligibility requirements, please call (904) 373-6907.

Winners will be announced at an April 1993 press conference and reception at the capitol in Tallahassee.

Newspaper summer intern program accepts applications

Special to the Monarch

College juniors, seniors, and graduate students who can see themselves writing great headlines and fine tuning graceful copy are invited to apply to the Dow Jones Newspaper Fund's 1993 Newspaper Editing Intern Program. The application deadline is November 15, 1992.

The program offers a limited number of $1,000 scholarships to selected students, a paid summer internship at a daily newspaper or news service and two weeks of pre-internship training on a college campus. This summer, 56 scholarship winners and internship winners worked at 45 newspapers and news services.

The editing internship program is entering its 25th year introducing more than 1,200 young people to the possibility of editing as a career. More than half the program's alumni are copy editors, reporters, graphic designers and top-ranking editors in the newspaper industry today.

Participating newspapers nationwide range in size from the Wall Street Journal to the Cape Cod Times. They include The Boston Globe, USA Today, The Washington Post, San Jose Mercury News, The Columbus Dispatch, Detroit Free Press, Post-Tribune, Asbury Park Press, The Kansas City Star and The Salt Lake Tribune.

Centers for Editing Excellence, where interns received their training, operated last year at Temple University, Philadelphia; Virginia Commonwealth University, Richmond; University of Missouri, Columbia; St. Bonaventure (N.Y.) University; Colorado State University, Fort Collins; and San Jose (Calif.) State University.

Applications are available from journalism schools or departments, campus placement offices or by calling the Newspaper Fund's toll-free number, 1-800-DOWFUND. Students may also write to the Fund at P.O. Box 300, Princeton, N.J. 08543-0300 or call, 609-452-2820.

Each applicant must submit: a complete application; a 500-word essay; a resume listing all colleges attended and jobs held; and a list of college courses and grades. In addition, each applicant must complete the one-hour Controlled Editing/Writing Exercise supplied by the Newspaper Fund to a professor who will act as a test monitor. The exercise must be taken and postmarked by the November 15 deadline.

Lists of 457 designated test monitors, their colleges and phone numbers will be distributed with applications. Students may check test dates and locations with these monitors, their campus placement office, journalism school or department or the Newspaper Fund.

The Dow Jones Newspaper Fund, a non-profit foundation supported by the Dow Jones Foundation and other newspaper companies, encourages young people to consider journalism careers. The Newspaper Fund publishes adviser update, a newsletter for high school publications advisers, the Journalism Career and Scholarship Guide, the Journalism Career Guide for Minorities and the Journalism & Mass Communications College Search Service.

SERS offers on-hand research Student activist award offered

Special to the Monarch

If you are a sophomore, junior, or senior studying computer science, engineering, physics, or environmental and life sciences, SERS (the Science and Engineering Research Semester) offers you the unique opportunity to do hands-on research with some of the nation's top scientists at one of seven national research laboratories during the academic year.

The U.S. Department of Energy (DOE) is sponsoring the program to encourage undergraduate students to continue their studies in science and engineering. About 400 students annually receive SERS appointments at one of the participating laboratories. These laboratories include Argonne, located outside of Chicago; Brookhaven, on Long Island, N.Y.; Lawrence Berkeley, near San Francisco; Lawrence Livermore, at Livermore, Calif.; Los Alamos National Laboratory, in New Mexico; Oak Ridge National Laboratory, located in Tenn.; and Pacific Northwest, in Washington state.

Participants become members of research teams engaged in long-range, intensive investigations at these outstanding facilities. Fields of study include artificial intelligence, biomedicine, basic and applied chemistry, earth and space sciences, environmental and life sciences, mathematics and computer science, high energy and nuclear physics, reactor physics, engineering, geophysics, waste technology, nuclear medicine, automatic inspection/measurement systems, and other areas of science, mathematics, and engineering.

While the emphasis of the program is hands-on research, SERS also includes an educational enrichment component. Participants attend seminars and symposiums sponsored by the divisions at their laboratory and have the option of enrolling in a course at a near by university or college. Students are also encouraged to arrange for the granting of academic credit by their home institutions for the research semester, thus staying on track for graduation.

"Our ability to meet the many pressing challenges facing the Department of Energy today and in the future will ultimately depend on the scientific creativity and technical skill of our work force," says Secretary of Energy Admiral James D. Watkins.

"There are few places in the world that can equal the range of science education opportunities and resources available at DOE's multiprogram national laboratories, big science, single investigator, and team research, all coupled with world-class scientific facilities, equipment, and technical support.

To be eligible for participation in SERS, students must have completed the sophomore year at an accredited U.S. community college or four-year college or university. Applicants must be U.S. citizens or permanent resident aliens interested in pursuing a degree in computer science, engineering, environmental or life sciences, mathematics or physical sciences. A limited number of appointments are also available within six months after graduation for students not enrolled in graduate school. Guidelines suggest an overall grade point average of 3.0 or higher, based on A=4.0.

While in the program, SERS participants will receive a weekly stipend of $225 per week, housing, and travel reimbursement for one round trip to the appointment site.

For more information on the SERS program contact: Science and Engineering Research Semester; 901 D Street, SW; Suite 201 A; Washington, DC 20024; (202)488-2426.

The application deadline for the spring 1993 semester is October 20. The 1993 Fall term deadline is March 15, 1993.

The Gleitsman Foundation, a Los Angeles based non-profit organization which encourages positive forms of social activism, has expanded its award program with the establishment of the Michael Schwerner Activist Award, an annual honor created specifically to recognize college students nationwide who are proving themselves to be outstanding catalysts of social change in their school and communities. The announcement of the award was made today by Alan Gleitsman, founder of the Gleitsman Foundation.

In addition to the Michael Schwerner Activist Award, The Gleitsman Foundation also presents the biennial Gleitsman Award For People Who Make A Difference, which honors social activists working within the United States; and the recently-announced Sakharov Award, to be presented every other year (commencing in 1993) to exceptional social crusaders outside of the country.

The Michael Schwerner Activist Award is dedicated to the memory of Cornell University graduate Michael Swerner, a distinguished civil rights activist who was kidnapped and murdered in Mississippi in 1964, along with co-workers James Chaney and Andrew Goodman. The award will be presented every spring to five young men or women, currently enrolled in a college or university in America, who have challenged some form of social injustice, promoted positive solutions for change and inspired others to realize that they too can make a difference. Award honorees will each receive a $1,000 prize.

Nominations for potential Michael Swerner Activist Award honorees may be submitted by a nominee's fellow students, as well as by campus faculty, staff members, alumni and others. Nomination forms, which must be returned no later than January 31, 1993, may be obtained by writing to The Gleitsman Foundation, 6100 Wilshire Boulevard, Suite 400, Los Angeles, California, 90048-5111. Nominators are free to nominate one or more possible honorees.

LEISURE

Sincerely Yours,

Dear Sincerely Yours,
I am a new freshman at Saint Leo. Rush time is here and although I can't pledge this semester, I am unsure if I want to pledge at all. My friends are very eager at the prospect of becoming a "sister," but how can I explain to them without insulting their feelings that it is not for me?

-Happy Being Individual

Dear H.B.I.,
Well, I am proud that you have a mind of your own and refuse to be pressured into something that you now have no interest in. Explain to your friends that pledging is a big commitment and you're not ready to handle it at the present time. They'll understand if they are real friends and who knows, maybe one day it will interest you. You have four years to go and definitely plenty of time to think about it. For now, enjoy yourself! You're in college, and there's a lot of clubs you can become involved in too.

-Sincerely Yours

Dear Sincerely Yours,
I need some advice! I am looking for a way to engage my time in activities on campus, but I'm not sure what all is available. Can you tell me how I could find out? Thanks!

-Future Member

Dear Future Member,
Well, to start, let me tell you what the school has to offer. There are many clubs and organizations such as Circle K International, Spirit Club, Saint Leo International Students Association (S.L.I.S.A.), Amnesty International, Campus Ministry, S.L.C. (Saint Leo Coalition) yearbook, newspaper, and more. Flyers are posted all over campus stating future times and meeting places, and WSLC, Channel 57, runs the school bulletin board, which lists the day's activities.

-Sincerely Yours

Ron's World

By Ron Broz
Copy Editor

So. Well.
My own column, eh?
All right then, let's get started.
Let's talk about.....

WOMEN.
I'm going to bounce some things off of you.
Tell me if they sound familiar.

1) Why is it that some of the nicest, prettiest, smartest women on campus go out with total jerks who treat them like dirt or ignore them? (no, don't answer that with a beer commercial)

2) Why do women go to the bathroom in squads? Is it so they can form human chains in case one gets trapped?

3) (this one's a bit long) The other day, I saw a girl standing in the hallway in Henderson. She was waiting for her date who, as it happens, was late. When I asked, she said that she was going to look out the window until he showed up and then run into her room, turn on some music, and look casually as though she was passing the time, because while she was ticked off about his being late and was watching for him, she didn't want him to know that she was ticked off and watching for him. HELLO? So, essentially, she was going to continue being ticked off at him, but never actually let him in on it. UF-DA. (note: this whole thing has since been explained to me by Rochelle Rosen, but I'm afraid I still don't get it. Anyone?)

4) Why do women spend so much time and money on themselves so they can achieve a "look" of not spending any time or money on themselves?

5) How is it that a woman can have enough clothes to fill two closets, three dressers, thirteen shelves and six suitcases and still not have "anything to wear" on Friday night?

6) Why don't women, in the middle of the night, just check whether the toilet seat is up or down and avoid all of the unpleasantness?

Well, that's enough for now - I believe I've endangered myself enough for one issue. Maybe next time I'll talk about something safe, like the way women drive.... or maybe I'll just talk about laundry.

Until next time,
(with apologies to Rush Limbaugh)
RON'S WORLD - on the cutting edge of societal evolution!

Writing this column with one - half of my brain tied behind my back just..... to make it fair.
