Welcome Home Alumni!

SAINT LEO, FL. — The Saint Leo College kampus will have many familiar faces and old friends on hand the weekend of October 6-8 for the seventh annual Alumni Homecoming.

Five captivating young ladies were chosen by a committee comprised of faculty, administration and student leaders to vie for the 1978 Alumni Homecoming Queen title.

The five contestants will meet with an alumni committee on October 2 for an informal dinner. After interviewing each girl and deciding which one best represents a combination of support of and involvement in college activities and organizations, a secret ballot will be cast. The queen will be crowned during halftime ceremonies on October 7.

The Alumni Homecoming Queen will be entered by the College in the second annual Agree All-American Homecoming Queen Program, which is held for nearly a week during the Orange Bowl Festival. Fifty-one queens from each state and the District of Columbia will be participating. Saint Leo's Alumni Homecoming Queen for 1977, L. Gaby Lamar, was selected first alternate for the State of Florida last year.

Visitors to the campus during Alumni Homecoming will include graduates from the senior college, Junior College and the Prep school. Prep grads from the Class of 1928 will be celebrating their 50th Golden reunion. In contrast, the Class of 1973 and 1968 will be celebrating their fifth and tenth reunions, respectively.

Activities planned for the three days include an 8:30 p.m. bonfire and pep rally on October 6, followed at 9 p.m. by an All-Classes Get-Together. At 8:30 a.m. Saturday a golf tournament begins and at 9 a.m. a tennis tournament will commence. A pre-game lakeside barbecue will be held from 11:30 a.m. until 1:30 p.m. Class of '79 invited Campus fraternities, sororities and organizations have been invited to enter the Alumni Homecoming parade, which begins at 1:30 p.m. at the College Field. To date, eleven have registered.

At 2 p.m. the Monarch gridders will host Baptist Christian College. A halftime show will be performed by the Seminole High School Band, directed by Sam Hayward.

Saturday's festivities will conclude with a social hour and dinner-dance at the McDonald Student Center beginning at 8 p.m. The dance theme will be "Frontier Days" and music will be furnished by the semi-rock band "No Relation."

On Sunday the old friends will meet for an 11 a.m. outdoor Mass at the Grotto before their departure.

Comedy to Set the Stage

SAINT LEO, FL. — A comedy will be the first theatrical production at Saint Leo College for the 1978-79 season. "My Three Angels" was written by Sam and Bella Spewack and is based on the book La Cuisine Des Anges by Albert Husson.

The ten character parts have been cast as follows:

Marie Louise will be portrayed by Cindy Hamrock, a freshman from Lake Wales, Fl.; Emilie is being played by Becky Brannon, a sophomore from Chenango Forks, N.Y.; Steve Hanna will portray Felix. He is a sophomore from Clearwater, Fl. The three convicts, Alfred, Joseph and Jules will be portrayed by Raymond DeCampos, a freshman from Hartford, Conn.; Peter M. Sgro, a junior from Bellmore, N.Y.; and Dino Taitano, a sophomore from Saipan, Mariana Islands; respectively. Roma Phillips, a junior from St. John's Antigua, West Indies, will assume the role of the local busybody. The strictly business cousin, Henri, will be played by Thomas Cioppettini, a sophomore from Livingston, N.J. His nephew, Paul, will be portrayed by Michael W. Mitchell, a sophomore from Sunnyside, Fl. The knight in shining armour, in the guise of the Navy Lieutenant, will be played by John C. Pawlowski, a senior from Katouah, N.Y.

The production will be directed by Dennis K. Henry, Director of the Theatre Department. Jeffrey Sparks, Assistant Professor of Theatre, will be responsible for scenic and lighting design. Marybeth Brennan, a freshman from East Lansing, Mich., will be the rehearsal assistant.

Production dates are October 25-28 in the College Theatre with curtain time at 8:15 p.m. nightly. For information, contact the Division of Humanities at 904-588-8294.

Sounds Promising

By Pat Montgomery

If you were a student of Saint Leo's last semester, you may have enjoyed the privilege of using the canoes or sailboats from the boathouse. If you did avail yourself of this privilege you may be wondering when the boathouse will be open this year. Have no fear! According to Mr. Bob Cabot, the aquatic director, the boathouse should be open soon.

The equipment that the boathouse has available at this time is three canoes (one more than last year) and two Hobbie Cat sailboats. In order to use any of the equipment, you must be able to pass a swimming test, which consists of swimming 100 yards of any stroke and be able to treadwater for 10 minutes. To use the sailboats, you must have a Red Cross sailing card or its equivalent and be checked out on the use of Hobbie Cats. Please turn to Pg. 6 (Boats)

Problem Parking...Where Chief?

By PAT MONTGOMERY

If you own and operate a vehicle here on campus, you may have noticed that at Saint Leo's, we have a slight parking problem. The problem, in simple terms, is that there are not enough parking places for everyone to park exactly where they want to. In an effort to somewhat relieve this problem, additional parking has been provided in front of McDonald Center. There has also been instituted a new parking system.

As of Monday, September 25, no students are allowed to park in the spaces west of the old gym between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. This area includes the parking lot near the library. The parking lot in front of Selby and Crawford will be used for faculty, staff, and day student parking. The newly paved parking spaces in the circle in front of McDonald Center will also be used for faculty, staff, and day students, with the exception of 10-12 spaces in the east side of the circle. These 10-12 spaces will be reserved for 30 minute only resident parking for residents of Lee Marvin, Benoit, and Roderick. There has been no changes in the other areas.

As a woman resident student who operates a vehicle on campus, I was very upset Monday morning when I first found out about these changes. As I understood the situation at the time, the only places that I was allowed to park were in the lot by Saint Ed's and the lot by Roderick. That being the situation, I thought that it would be useless for me to drive over from the other side. I would have been just as close to my classes and work if I were to walk over from the dorm. I was very frustrated, as were many other women residents from the other side of campus who drive cars.

My frustration was relieved when I spoke to Charlie Gordon, head of security. He informed me that in this new parking system, women residents will be considered day students. Therefore women residents from Marmion, Snyder, Priory, and Villa will be allowed to park in those areas denoted for day students. In two to three weeks, those living in the buildings and operating vehicles will be issued new parking stickers. These stickers will be the same color as those of commuting day students.

Residents of Lee Marvin, Benoit, and Roderick, and Saint Ed's are asked to leave their cars in the lots by their dorms and to not drive to classes. There is no reason to drive from Lee Marvin to Lewis hall!

It is my opinion that there doesn't have to be any problem of overcrowded parking. If you can walk to class or to work, why don't you! Why is it necessary to drive from class to class and from class to work? Why not save your gas? Resident car owners who live close enough to classes are asked to be more aware of the needs of those coming onto campus and coming from the women's side and MUST be able to park.

Alas Babylon

By Mike Melody

Despair and alienation, a sense of God-forsakenness, all-too-often does seem to pervade the atmosphere on campus. Depression often seems the tyrant that drives us through the endless hours of the day. Yet, is this really surprising? Many students at the college are here precisely because they have failed to achieve according to parental and societal norms. Many seem to arrive with an ingrained sense of defeat and hopelessness, a feeling of being overwhelmed by a hostile world—one that always seems to lead them from disappointment to disappointment, tragedy to tragedy. In other words, many of them seem to have experienced a world without hope and the proud dreams that typically fill the eyes of the young.

I first met Jim over a beer at Ralph's. Though the Registrar considered me his teacher, we really communicated very little. I could tell that other things preoccupied him besides political science. During the course of the semester we met several times at Ralph's and finally, after many months of testing to see if I could be trusted, he spoke of himself and the darkness that threatened at times to swallow him.

So I sat many a night at Ralph's with this blond haired freshman listening to the horrors that comprised his story. Jim had always been told to achieve, but due to a lesser degree of native ability than his peers, he never could quite make it, regardless of how hard that he tried. Yet, Jim was always expected to make it, to do well. High School, thus, became a frustrating experience. As

Jim put it, he often felt like he was beating his head against a wall. Scared, frightened, feeling cut off from the world, he withdrew into himself and created an elaborate series of defenses to protect himself from the world as well as other people. Actually, he only really half trusted me and even at times regarded my concern as an imposition. The darkness was at least more familiar and eventually the beer (sometimes a joint or two) would produce the longed-for anesthetic effect. Jim arrived at Saint Leo's a spiritually crippled person whose life centered on anxiety and fear, especially fear of failure.

Often when Jim returned to Lee Marvin from Ralph's he would wreck havoc in the corridor, pound on doors, and otherwise act like a troglodyte. Yet, this was his way of announcing to all that he was alive, a human being, that he was, indeed, a person. Others, of course, reacted differently. They were annoyed and thought him a bit strange. His psychological defenses, after all, were not terribly good. Several of his peers noticed that a fundamental weakness permeated his character, even though he portrayed himself as Achilles. Darkness, loneliness, and sometimes even violence marked his life at Saint Leo's.

Jim and I shared some of those fears for a while last semester and through this, as well as the goodness that was in him, he did do a little better. Slowly, he was acquiring the ability to deal with his past as well as the fears that so often crippled him.

I saw Jim again last night at Ralph's. He sat surrounded by his buddies who were engaged in that peculiar celebration of loneliness that seems endemic to Ralph's. As a group their attention centered on the anticipation of anesthetic, of peach. They seemed to share the false conviviality of the place and pretended to a friendship that could not be their. The darkness, for some reason, had returned, and Jim had found other spiritual cripples to fill the lonely, dark hours of the night till the anesthetic took hold.

Yet, who among us has not been crushed at some time or other by a tyrannical system? Who among us has never had a dream brutally destroyed? Who among us has not felt a crippling fear in the middle of the night? In all of this, in the tragedy that is the human condition, we are all brothers and sisters. We are all potentially friends with a good deal to share with one another.

I laid awake last night pondering that scene at Ralph's. I was frustrated by my inability to touch, to heal that loneliness as well as the impossibility of offering a soothing word in the midst of the celebration of fright and anxiety.

Jim, take heart from the tower of the Monastery. It reminds us that the God shares our fate, its sorrows and fears, and that in the darkest hours one can find peace and reconciliation. All that is necessary is to accept the courage to be your dreams of success as well as the healing grace of the Spirit. Peace and reconciliation will be found in friends or perhaps the quiet moments of the heart, certainly not in a bottle or a joint.

Dear "Abby"

DEAR ABBY,
I have the hardest time getting up in the morning for my 8:05 classes. Already I have overslept five times and I'm afraid this is going to cause me to drop the class which is required that I take.

SLEEPYHEAD

DEAR SLEEPYHEAD,
Go out and buy yourself a second alarm clock. Put it on the opposite side of the room so when it goes off you have to get out of bed to turn it off. Meanwhile your other alarm clock should be ringing. Turn it off and then run to the bathroom and throw cold water on your face but don't you dare run back to bed. This should work if you just give it a try. Good luck.

DEAR ABBY,
I met this guy one night at a bar. We seemed to really get along great. He bought me a couple of beers and he sat and talked to me for most of the night. After everyone started leaving the bar he asked me to come back to his room for awhile. So I did. Nothing real heavy, but I did end up staying over night. The next time I saw him, he acted like he hardly knew me. I don't know whether I imagined he liked me or that he's just strange.

MIXED-UP FRESHMAN

MIXED-UP FRESHMAN,

I'll take for granted that you were both drunk which causes people to be less inhibited and to do or say things they wouldn't if they were sober. I think you were wrong to have stayed over night. If this continues, you will not be very respected or admired by the guys. Having a girl stay over in a guy's room is all fun and games to the guys.

DEAR ABBY,
I'm seeing this girl who is 17 and a senior in high school, but I'm 21 and a senior in college. We are getting very serious and talking about getting married some day. My friends are saying she is too young. I'm not sure whether our age difference will cause any problems. She doesn't plan to go to college though.

UNDECIDED

DEAR UNDECIDED,
If you feel you have a good relationship where you can communicate and have trust with one another, then I don't think she is too young. Another good thing going your way is that she is not planning to go to college.

Info. on Who's Who

To: The College Community, Students, Faculty, Administrators and Staff

The "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" program continues to be a meaningful annual activity at Saint Leo College. Perhaps that is because it provides the opportunity for the community to recognize in a significant way our outstanding juniors and seniors.

Any member of the College Community may nominate any student who has attained junior or senior year standing. Nominating forms are available from the division offices and at the Student Affairs Office. Once completed, the forms are to be turned in at the Student Affairs Office, Saint Edward Hall by October 9, 1978.

A selection committee will review the nominations and submit the names of the most qualified students to the national "Who's Who" Organization for recognition. Your continued cooperation with this program is appreciated.

Letter to Freshmen Girls

For the majority of you, this is your first time away from home for any length of time. There is so much to be experienced here, physically, mentally, and emotionally. One of the first experiences you may encounter, is that of an admiring male enthusiastically telling you of all your charms over a drink at Ralph's. There is no immediate harm in having a drink at Ralph's, but beware!

Especially of the upperclassmen males. They may be more convincing than honest. Before you know it, they've bought you another drink and another. Now they're offering to take you home, but you never quite make it until dawn. This may have happened innocently enough, and I don't mean to be degradant to either party; but the fact is, that this does happen.

Don't mistake coving flattering for the start of a relationship or anything permanent. Keep in mind that they are still sifting through the new arrivals, and like it or not, you shall be branded!

My only advice to you is this: You have only yourself to answer to. Take some time to think about who you are, and who you want to be. Then start doing things for you. Protect your own hopes and dreams before others. It is time for your to be selfish. Put yourself first, because right now, you should be the most important person in your life. You are number one! Don't destroy what you hope to be by letting yourself be influenced by others. Respect yourself, and others will respect you.

Sincerely,
Anonymous Senior

ROTC.... What do you think?

Stephen Young

An ROTC program was started here this fall for the first time ever. Their presence has already been felt in numerous ways. The sight of olive green trucks, people flying off buildings, and the large army posters in Lewis Hall have all become everyday events. The student opinion and acceptance of the program has been high. Not only did more than thirty students sign up for ROTC but the rest of the student body has given the program a hearty welcome.

Sophomore John Pawlowski said, "I think it is a really good career opportunity." Mary Paolucci added "I think it's very good. The program shows people a chance to see what ROTC and the army is all about."

"If some people want to do it that's O.K. but I can't see myself in it" said Sophomore Tom Feeny, "It does provide an opportunity for some people. That's great as long as they don't force it on me," he added.

Freshman Bob Cipriano is in the program. After three weeks of classroom and outdoor experience he said, "An excellent program, as a matter of fact I don't know how you can beat it. It gives the students a good view of what's going on between academics and the military. The program doesn't represent the military on campus, but intelligence in the military."

Interestingly enough, program head Stu Herrington noted in a recent interview that out of all the students interviewed for ROTC not a single one asked about what would happen to him or her should the United States go to war in the years while they are in the program. This writer sees ROTC as a good opportunity for a lot of people in that it presents a structured lifestyle and many financial and independent opportunities.

However it is important to realize that Army ROTC is just that, the Army. Not a benevolent force that hands out 100 dollars a month for nothing. Sure it's exciting learning how to use a compass and map to find your way back to St. Leo from and orange grove somewhere but remember that someday you just might be using those same tools to weave your way out of a bug-ridden rain forest on the other side of the world.

"Fire" in Snyder

By PAT MONTGOMERY

"A flash fire on the top floor of a women's dormitory at Providence College killed seven students and injured 16 others early the morning." The preceding quote was taken from the December 14 issue of the New York Times.

On the night of Wednesday, September 20, if you were in Snyder, you may have smelled an unusual odor. This odor, which was smelled throughout the building and in part of the lobby, was caused by a popcorn popper that was left plugged in overnight on the third floor of Snyder. According to Miss Sue Stranko, house mother of Snyder, only minor damage was caused by the smouldering popcorn popper; the counter on which the popper was left was scorched.

According to the rules governing the use of electrical appliances, "all cooking appliances must be placed on asbestos pads at all times." When Miss Stranko found the smouldering popcorn popper, it was sitting on a spiral notebook, which was also smouldering. Because of negligence and not heeding the rule concerning the use of asbestos pads, a disaster such as the above stated one at Providence College could have resulted.

One of the positive results of the smouldering popcorn popper incident was the calling of a mandatory meeting for all resident women students concerning fire safety. The meeting was conducted by Bob Cabot, and Greg Masi, both volunteer firefighters. The meeting was centered on various fire hazards. Hazards such as overcrowded circuits, hair dryers and curling irons that are accidentally left on, cigarettes that aren't totally extinguished, the uses of electrical appliances without asbestos pads, and other such hazards were warned against. Other topics including fire exit routes and what to do in the case of a fire were also discussed.

The importance of fire safety can not be overstressed!

There is a lesson that can be learned from the tragedy that happened at Providence College last December. It should be clearly seen that precautions must be taken to ensure our own safety and the safety of others. Let us not allow carelessness or negligence lead to tragedy here at Saint Leo!

Alpha Psi Omega

The students of Saint Leo College theatre have recently been accepted into the National Honorary Dramatic Society of Alpha Psi Omega.

Alpha Psi Omega was started as an honorary dramatic fraternity to provide a more unified group for college and university students (of both sexes) interested in the theatre. We of the Chi Delta chapter believe that people should be rewarded for their participation in all aspects of the theatre.

The charter members of the Chi Delta chapter wishes to extend an invitation to all interested to see what it is all about.

A trip with Temte may be tempting

By Marianne Bozzi

If you are a business major and interested in finding out what the fashion industry, the stock exchange and other business organizations are like in foreign countries, why not take a trip with Mr. Temte next May session?

Last May session he and 21 students took a tour of Lucerne, Zurich, Paris, Munich and London.

Mr. Temte and his group began the trip in New York City and observed the stock exchange. They also heard a lecture at Columbia University.

Then it was on to Paris where they saw a fashion show from the House of Chanel. They also visited the "Falleries LaFayette" which is the largest department store in Paris.

In Munich the group saw the Bavarian motor works (BMW).

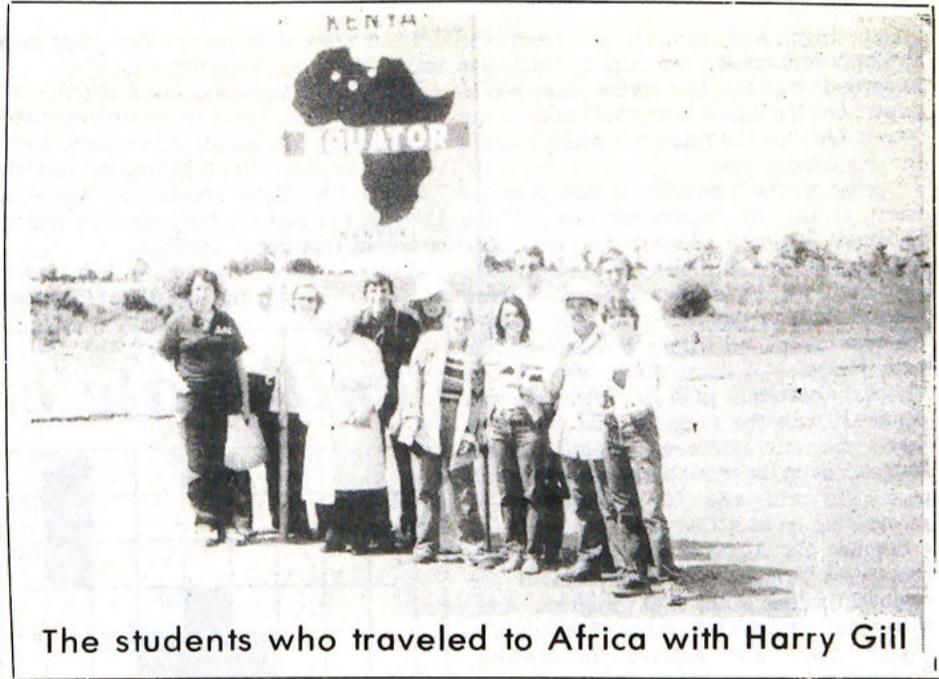

Lucerne was the next destination. They heard lectures concerning the tourist business and the diamond industry. Then they saw a fashion show from the Italian Designer, Pucci.

In Zurich, the students and Mr. Temte visited the Swiss Stock Exchange. They said there was a great difference from that of the United States and London all of the business was done through the Swiss banks and the atmosphere was loud and appeared chaotic. They also heard a lecture from a member of Marrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith, at the Zurich office.

London probably had the most well run and organized stock exchange. It is modern and efficient. They heard two lectures - one from Barclays Bank and another from the London School of Economics.

Their trip to Europe was not all business, as this article may seem. St. Leo students did manage to find a disco where the beer was four franks or two jollars and after 12:00 it went up to 12 franks or six dollars a bottle.

All in all, "the trip was quite successful," says Mr. Temte and he plans to take another one during May session next year, spending more time in Paris and less time in Switzerland. He encourages Business Majors to become interested as it is a good experience and certainly worthwhile.

You are under arrest

By Eric McKinnies

"YOU HAVE THE RIGHT:

- to remain silent, anything you say can and will be used against you in a court of law.
- to talk to a lawyer and have him present while you are being questioned, if you cannot afford a lawyer, one will be appointed to represent you before questioning."

The above statements are known as the "Miranda Warning." It is said when one is arrested. Unfortunately, this warning has had to be read to some of us these past weeks. Shoplift cases are on the increase and time has come that some facts come out into the open.

Florida Law states anyone convicted for shoplifting the first time faces a maximum sentence of $500 fine and-or 60 days confinement. The second time, you face a maximum of $1,000 fine and-or one year imprisonment and the third time, it's a $5,000 fine and-or five years in state prison. Assuming that luck is with you that day at court and you only pay a small fine, you still are losing in the long run. You are fingerprinted and photographed and now have a record for life. This is serious and will mean a big difference in your career.

One last note. If you are stopped by the police, the following steps should be adhered to:

1. Cooperate—don't argue—it will make matters worse.
2. Ask your friends that are not involved to go away. They can't help you.
3. Be courteous at all times.
4. Do not resist arrest for such a charge carries a stiff penalty.
5. Once processed at the jail, you are entitled to make a call. Make your call to Saint Leo College, Department of Security and Safety at 904-588-8200. They will advise you of what will be done.

You came to Saint Leo College for an education. No need to leave with a record and a degree.

ORGANIZATIONS

News from C.U.B.

International Club

Phi Theta Chi

The C.U.B. members have been actively gathering information for up coming events since the start of this school year. The various committee chairmen have been working hard to set dates and schedule these events.

The film committee and co-chairmen, Judee Pelzer and Pat Walsh, have scheduled the following movies: "Alice Doesn't Live Here Anymore," "All the President's Men", "The Trial of Billy Jack", and "The Omen." We hope to see you there!

The lecture committee chairman, Eric McKinnies, has been busy checking into various lectures. The lectures scheduled so far include an appearance of Kramer and Co. on Nov. 15, 1978. Kramer and Co. will present a magic show that has received excellent reviews by various audiences. It should prove to be quite a wild time!

Also scheduled on the lecture calendar is a presentation on U.F.O.'s to be made by a guest speaker on Oct. 12, 1978. The date, however, is only tentative at this point. The C.U.B. will report further information as it becomes available. Keep your eyes and ears open!

The travel committee has not yet gotten on its feet this year. The reason for this is that a chairman had not been elected yet. Fortunately, Karla DeSousa, and Kathy Gerardi were voted to be co-chairmen of this committee at the Sept. 28 C.U.B. meeting. Congratulations guys! Now all you have to do is get hussling. The travel committee hopefully will start providing transportation to Lakeland concerts soon! A few shopping trips to Tampa may also be on the way!

The concert committee has also been busy. So far, this committee has sponsored several bands for the dances held in the McDonald Center.

A new concert committee chairman, Janice Gallup, was also elected at the September 28 C.U.B. meeting. Yeah Janice! Best of luck in keeping those good bands coming!

And now, what you've all been waiting for! The C.U.B. has finally decided on office hours. Starting Oct. 2, they will be Monday through Friday from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. Further hours will be scheduled later.

In closing, if you or any of your friends are interested in joining any of the C.U.B. committees, the C.U.B. would LOVE to have you! If you just have a suggestion or an idea you'd like to share, that's great too. Simply stop by the C.U.B. office in the Old Gym and let us have it! If you prefer to just scribble it on a piece of paper, then, by all means, feel free! That's what the C.U.B.'s all about!

The uniqueness of such an organization is seen through the vast amount of cultural differences. The International Club houses the faculty to grant a particular sector of education to all persons on this Campus community that is acquainting them with a life style other than their own.

There are some 15 countries represented including Europeans and Americans. The amount of members from the Caribbean composes the greatest number of members. This organization excludes no one and would very much like to see a greater interest from the campus community.

We intend to perform a night of international culture sometime in the near future. The event is for all to enjoy so come and learn about differences and similarities of culture.

Phi Theta Chi has been a chartered fraternity at Saint Leo since 1962. The fraternity is known to many as the "Big Red Machine." The total membership since its charter date is over 480 brothers.

Throughout the history of the frat, Big Red brothers have captured the crown in every interfraternity sport. Last year Phi Theta Chi was the winner of both Greek week while placing strongly in football and basketball. Athletics, however, are not the only endeavors of the fraternity. Phi Theta Chi is the annual sponsor for Saint Anthony's Blood Bank here on Leo's campus.

This year's officers of the fraternity are:

Campus Ministry's Coffeehouse brewing nicely

Some Sunday evening you may be near the Abbey Church and Pilgrim Center's Shop, and you hear the gentle strumming of a folk guitar, with one clear voice singing a soft song. Or is it a zesty bluegrass band, with banjos and fast fiddles, accompanied by rebel-yell whoops, hollers and foot-stompings? Whatever the sound, it's Campus Ministry's fun-and-free Sunday night coffeehouse, held in the Upper Room.

Live entertainment cannot frequently be found in the San Antonio - Dade City area, but right here on campus, in the Upper Room (climb the steps across the road from the Pilgrim Center offices) you've got it every week, Sundays at 8:30 - 10:30 p.m. Hot coffee or hot chocolate, cold punch, hot dogs, popcorn, and other munchies are there for you to enjoy, as well as some of the nicest people you could meet, all in the contest of excellent entertainment.

Thanks to the funding of the College Union

Board, Campus Ministry's Coffeehouse provides you with talent that, in other circumstances, might well be costly to come by. So far this year, energetic Kip Wofford, and the lovely Patsy Kyzer, have come to us from Tampa. Phil Orth, from Clearwater, well-known to the Saint Leo community, has performed. Local talent "A Piece of Bluegrass," featuring Tim Higgins and Norm Geiger kept our feet tapping. Our own Dr. Ernie Williams, of the Philosophy-Theology department, and Dr. Ed. Flemming, Psychology, will be singing and smiling soon. And watch for Tampa's Corey Zimmerman and Lakeland's Rick Bussey, in October and November.

The Sunday evening musicals are free, and fun! Just climb the outside metal steps above the college carpentry shop, open a couple of doors, and enter the comfortable world of Campus Ministry's Coffeehouse.

Going National

Greetings, and salutations, from the Brothers of Lambda Chi Alpha. Much has happened since last this scribe place pen to paper. And if the past is any indication of the future, Lambda Chi Alpha has much in store for this coming year.

During second semester of last year we were visited by representatives of the National Fraternity, who laid out their requirements for our Colony. We are proud to say that we have met many of these requirements at this time. We hope to have the rest completed before November. This past weekend William Rath who is our Chapter Consultant paid us a visit. He was delighted with the progress that has been made, and was extremely helpful with his suggestions on the small barriers that we still face. Bill will also be instrumental in recognizing us as a Chapter.

Lambda Chi Alpha is a fraternity which represents Brotherhood. The room of our organization lies in the A.M. program. A.M. stands for Associate Member. Lambda Chi Alpha does not believe in hazing. Brotherhood, among other things, does not stem from criticism or punishment. Instead it works on strong morals and building leadership. Associate Members join the brothers in every activity in order that they may understand the responsibilities of a member of Lambda Chi Alpha. You are placed beside the brothers, not behind or below them, for we are all equal. Our Associate Members are not PLEDGES in the traditional sense of the term.

We are a service fraternity. We hold one of the highest come's on campus. We are a well rounded fraternity ranging from Physical Education to Fine Arts. We hold some of the most outstanding functions on Campus, among other things, we will have our annual Halloween Dance, Lambda Chi Alpha vs. the Faculty in Basketball for Muscular Dystrophy and the third annual Runathon for the Boy's Village in San Antonio.

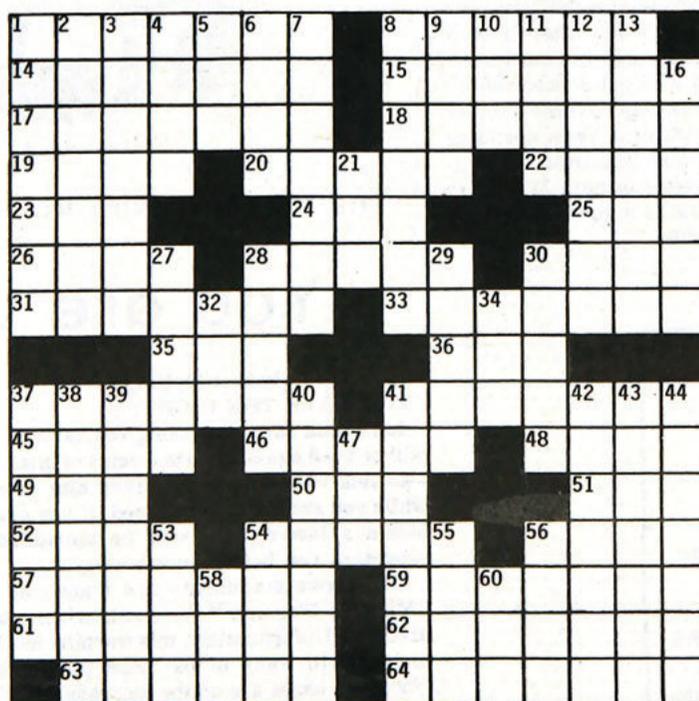

Some of the advantages of being a National Fraternity are that you become a Brother for life. Our standards, as a result, are much higher but the rewards are far greater. We will be able to offer Fraternity loans and scholarships to deserving individuals. These are just a few of the many outstanding things that a National Fraternity can offer.

Freshmen Vote for Officers

President

How would you like to make your Freshman year at St. Leo one of the best years in your life? A lot of people would like to. I feel it could easily be done if you have someone dependable and qualified to represent and fit the position of Freshman class president for the 1978-79 year.

I have held an office in high school and been a member of the student council so I know what it is like to work hard and reach the goal we set out to make. If we all participate and work together, we can make this year regarding and worth remembering.

Gail Scrimgeour
Worcester, Mass.

My name is Bill Haynes and I am running for Freshman class president. I cannot make false promises, seeing now that I do not know what is in store for this year. We have a fine Freshman class and I feel that I have the potential to handle the situations which may occur during the course of our Freshman year.

Vice Pres.

Hello! My name is Melanie Phillips. I am running for the position of Vice-President for our class. I feel my past experience as being active in Student Government of my high school makes me qualified for the position. As Vice-President, I would assist the president on any actions or decisions to be made. My hopes and expectations as Vice-President would be to make sure that our first year at "Leo Land" is the best of a new beginning. I am simple, sincere and willing to work for you. Thank you for your time and have a nice day!

My name is Mary Weeden and I am running for vice-president of the Freshman class. Our class is what we make it and I am willing to work hard so our class might benefit. I would appreciate your votes.

My name is Susan Monahan and I am running for vice-president of the Freshman class. The main purpose of the Freshman class officers is to get the Freshman class together, meeting one another and basically getting adjusted to college life. I feel I am able to accomplish this goal with the help of the other officers. I feel I am responsible and I am willing to put in the time and patience to accomplish this goal.

One of the experiences I've had is three years on my class boards in high school. I have also been in Keyettes, National Honor Society and other clubs throughout my three years in high school. I would appreciate your support and your vote.

Can you identify this picture?

Treasurer

My name is Patty Leopold and I am running for treasurer of the Freshman class. As a Biology major, I enjoy working with figures. I have held an office of this sort during my high school career and found it most enjoyable. I also feel becoming treasurer is one way by which I can get to know my class and become actively involved with you. I am looking forward to this coming year.

My name is Paula Denner and I'm running for Freshman class treasurer. I feel I am qualified for this position. In high school I was treasurer of my school and handled that job extremely well. This is my first year at St. Leo and I'm interested in doing as much as I can to help the student body. I want to see more activities, shows, concerts, athletic games, etc. held here at St. Leo. A vote for me will be a vote for you.

Secretary

Hi! My name is Kathy Cronin I am running for Freshman Class Secretary.

One of the main jobs of a Secretary is to inform everyone as to what is going on and specific information about the events happening. I'll make sure that there are posters put up, and the information put in the Daily Say-So and the school newspaper.

It is your option to attend the meetings. You are not going to be forced to attend the meetings. You are not going to be forced to attend the events, but at least you'll know about them and what's going on.

So remember, vote Kathy Cronin for Freshman Class Secretary. Thank-You.

My name is Debbie Raskett and I am from Grafton, Mass. I am running for secretary of the Freshman class. I have had experience in an office at school and also have skills in typing and shorthand which I feel are essential for the position I am running for.

Health Thyself

Hello Freshmen,

Welcome to Saint Leo! Being a freshman on any campus is a unique experience for most people. Excitement, freedom, panic, homesickness, and anxiety all blend into a chaotic mixture which can cause a person to feel unsettled-if not vulnerable. It is a time of trying new things, sampling others' values, and wondering what is required to be "accepted" on campus. It is a time of momentarily breaking ties with family and friends, but not having a firm footing with new friends. Definitely, there are pressures, both academically (will I be able to do the work?), and socially (must I booze it up to fit in?). Questions requiring decisions are flying around in all directions, and chaos goes on... Fortunately, the dust begins to settle after a few weeks, and you will have made a number of decisions about the values you brought from home, and the endless range of values you've observed through the behavior of others on campus. Have you chosen wisely?

If things are getting you down, and you'd like some one to talk with, feel free to call me at extension 346 for an appointment. I'll be on campus on Mondays and Tuesdays,

Sincerely yours,
Bonnye Glaros, M.S.W.

Donna Eccleston has been a familiar face on campus for quite some time now. She entered St. Leo's in January of 1974, where she majored in Physical Education until her graduation in June, 1977. During those years, she developed a liking and interest of the school, its people and its programs; this, she says, is what helped her to form that welcoming personality she holds with the students and staff members. She seems just to be an involved person, one who strives to attain to the top of whatever she does; she was a past Alpha Sigma president.

For the past years, she has held the position of International Students Specialist, a job that deals with the foreign students on campus says Donna; "I enjoy it very much." The students must think she is a hard worker, as she was voted Outstanding Administrator last year by the student body. ("Legs") She is affectionately called by the guys in Lee Marvin where she is the Head R.A. She intends one day to return to her native Jamaica, but for now she will continue with her staff post and play soccer with a woman's team in Tampa. So St. Leo is stuck with Donna for awhile, and with Donna's friendly smile.

Father Aloysius Dressman, 80, is a well known Kentucky Colonel of the Florida Benedictines. He taught at Saint Leo Prep for 25 years and served in churches and missions at New Port Richey, Land O'Lakes, Zephyrhills, Brooksville, Crystal River and Beverly Hills. He was a virtuoso on the violin and a good friend of the late Rubinoff. A bench outside the front of St. Edwards is named in his honor where he holds court with students and squirrels.

China ... of all places

By MIKE BROWN

In July of this year, Saint Leo College was indirectly represented in of all places, China. Dr. John McTague, a history professor here at Saint Leo's, spent his vacation time in that ancient land.

China was not the country Dr. McTague had intended to visit. His first choice was Japan, but once he reached Hong Kong, the travel agency he was flying with offered a first come - first serve trip to Canton, China.

Since only 25 people could go at one time, Dr. McTague quickly changed his plans and went to a country where Westerners are seldom seen. In fact, his group was often stared at and questioned about Western customs and culture.

This was not a trip set up for only college professors in fact, the group varied from small business men to high school teachers to just plain tourists interested in that ancient country.

The group had to rise and be ready at 8:30 every morning and they usually went until 9:00 or 10:00 in the evening. The trips were pre-planned which means the country's representative shows everything and answers all questions. There is little opportunity to interview the common man in the streets unlike most Western nations.

All travel was done by bus or train. Most meals were served in their hotel set up exclusively for foreign visitors. The group had a choice of Western or Chinese dishes, which were often chosen.

When asked what stood out in his mind the most, Dr. McTague responded by saying, the enormous use of bicycles by the population. Cars are seldom seen; only buses occasionally weaving between the masses of people.

He loved the food served, in fact, he was treated to an eight course dinner once. When asked if he had any complaints, he said, that it was very hot and humid, but was often so tired from the long day, he had little trouble sleeping under those conditions.

Since Dr. McTague teaches Far East Civilization at Saint Leo's, he will have a first hand account as to the people and customs of the land. Dr. McTague suggests the trip to anyone who has the time; the cost is relatively inexpensive. His total charge was $300, this included all meals and travel. So the next time you plan a trip, why not make it to China?

Satisfactory completion of a sailing oriented course would also be considered as qualification enough to use the sailboats. If there is enough interest, the aquatics office is willing to offer such a course again this semester. Rental of equipment is free to all students upon presentation of a student I.D.

The boathouse is operated under the authority of the aquatics office. Mr. Cabot, who is the aquatics director, would like to see more student usage of the boathouse facility. Once the boathouse is opened, it will be available for usage every weekend from noon until dusk. In the future, Mr. Cabot hopes to arrange for the boathouse to be open at least one weekday afternoon in addition to weekends.

Other plans being considered are the possible rebuilding or repairing of the dock facilities and a possible experimental ski day. Mr. Cabot hopes to arrange with the S.G.A. to make available to students the use of skis and a motor boat. S.G.A. would cover the costs related to the boat and the skis, making rental free for students. Mr. Cabot is currently in the process of talking to representatives of C.U.B., S.G.A., and to Dr. Ackerman and Dr. Southard about possible plans for better and more extended use of the boathouse.

St. Leo hires Police Chief

By STEPHEN YOUNG

The town of St. Leo hired a new chief of police over the summer, Eddie Hines. So far he says that he has few complaints with the students or administration at St. Leo College.

"I think the students are a credit to the community, I hope to co-operate with them in every possible way", he said.

He sees no extreme discipline problems here, "I really don't see any major problems with the students however I do hope to work more closely with the security staff at St. Leo when dealing with student related matters.

He also discussed police policy regarding weekend night-spots like Ralph's and the Newsroom. "We do not have any specific patrols located at the bars to get the kids, only routine checks to make sure the laws are being enforced."

Several stores in the Leo area have begun to publicize a crackdown on shoplifters. Chief

Hines says, "We have had several shoplifting cases already in the San Antonio area. Although the merchants are the people cracking down on the shop-lifting the students should realize that anyone caught will be prosecuted."

Eddie Hines has been working the St. Leo area for a long time. He spent 9 years working in the Dade City Police Dept. and another 6 years as a sergeant in the Pasco County Sheriff's office. He currently resides in Dade City.

"I would like to make one thing clear, the police will co-operate and do everything possible to help the students at St. Leo. My door is open to them at any time should they have a problem or just want to talk. We will take all steps necessary to see that the law is enforced." When asked how it's been so far he replied, "Just Super!"

Campus Crime

By PAUL SYMONETTE

Over the past few weeks outbreaks of vandalism have occurred on campus. The flag opposite St. Francis Hall was stolen and the statue of Mary in front of St. Edward's dorm was put away after it was shoved off its stand. One of the parking signs in front of the post office was smashed as were approximately five of the railings by St. Edward's door. Security Office Virgil Hobbs commented on the state of the mens restroom during the recent toga party. "There was too much paper thrown all over the place," he said disgustedly.

Despite all this, the Saint Leo grounds crew, headed by Marcus Baker, have diligently added water hoses and plants around the upstairs of McDonald center and in other areas in an effort to beautify and landscape the campus.

Homecoming Candidates

By RANDY WATSON & SUE BROWN

Tracey A. Vita is a 18 year old sophomore with concentrations in dance and elementary education. She has been dancing since age 3. Her first performance on stage was a memorable one, for Tracey knocked out the girl next to her over a slight misunderstanding. She is quite different now for she teaches children dance and says she just wants to give other children the same opportunities she has had.

In September of 1977 Tracey moved to Bradenton, Florida from Poughkeepsie, New York with her parents. She chose Saint Leo because it was close to home and it was small enough to get to know just about every person here. She loves it here and such organizations as S.G.A., the Modern Dance Company and being a sister of Delta Phi Delta keep her quite busy. She also has a 2.99 g.p.a. and has achieved the Dean's List.

Joann Krucher is a 20 year old sophomore from Long Island, New York. She came to Saint Leo because of her brother of whom she is very close and is majoring in social work. She became interested in social work when she worked with emotionally disturbed children and because her mother is a social worker. She likes Saint Leo because she says, her concentration department, is the best, and because things are more personal in a smaller school.

Joann enjoys exercising, swimming, dancing and writing. She also occupies her after school time by being a resident's assistant on third floor Lee Marvin. She says it is good experience for it puts her in situations that test her judgement, and help her to grow and to learn with people her own age. Along with all this she also maintains a 3.45 g.p.a. and has made the Dean's List twice.

Mary POWERS came to Saint Leo college on a Presidential Scholarship and maintains a 3.54 g.p.a. She is considering concentrations in special education and human resources administration at the present time.

After hours she is a resident assistant at Snyder Hall and she enjoys ceramics, sewing and sailing. She is also a member of Circle K and treasurer of the Sailing and Outing Club.

Elyse J. Argudo is a 21 year old Junior from Ecuador. She originally came to the United States as a foreign exchange student. She was living with a family in Atlanta, Georgia and her neighbor, an alumni of St. Leo kept telling her how great it was here. Elyse decided to explore for herself and wound up liking it so much she stayed.

Her concentration is in business administration although she also enjoys a variety of other subjects such as biology and chemistry and still maintains a 3.27 g.p.a. Activities she enjoys are reading and ballet while she is a member of Circle K and the Gamma Alpha Honor Society. This year she plans to assist the nuns at Holy Name Priory in working with the migrants in the area and will be teaching a 16 year old Guatemalan highschool exchange student to speak English.

As for the Orange Bowl Elyse believes it would be an honor to represent Saint Leo College.

Kathryn zD. Davis is a 19 year old senior with concentrations in accounting and dance. She has maintained Dean's List status every semester and is a member of the Gamma Alpha Honor Society. Kathy holds dual citizenship with the United States where she was born and the Bahamas where she resides in Nassau.

During her three years on campus, she has been a member of the Modern Dance Company and was a dancer in the theatrical production of "Dames at Sea" in 1976. She is the public relations chairman of the International Club, which also sponsored in the first "Miss St. Leo College Scholarship Pageant" last March where she placed first runner-up. During the summers of 1976 and 1977 she taught dance to underprivileged children in the Bahamas.

Frontier Days

By DOUG GALLEGOS

Somehow it seems nothing can be decided on this campus. The big question this week has been whether or not the theme for the homecoming parade will be "Frontier Days."

I took the initiative and dispatched a secret intelligence detail to check more thoroughly into the problem.

During the S.G.A. meeting it was announced that the theme for the Homecoming parade would be "Frontier Days." Immediately some alert senator, (it seems there are so many senators these days) pointed out that "Frontier Days" was dropped and there would be no more theme. Not being a tyrannical goat a vote was motioned for and all agreed that there would be no theme for the homecoming. Then, another senator said it would be alright if the theme "Frontier Days" were used in spite of it having been voted out. Another senator noted that the theme hadn't been voted out at all but that the theme had simply been dropped. This led to general confusion. The issue, it seems, was not resolved. I saw it crop-up again in the Circle K meeting. Curt Rieley, who had been at the S.G.A. meeting announced the theme of Homecoming to be "Frontier Days" and asked for any ideas on a float pertaining to said theme. Thereupon some alert circle Ker announced that the theme had, in fact, been disregarded and any float would be satisfactory. Following that statement some debate about a piano was raised which led to the same strain of confusion which hit the S.G.A. meeting.

Well my detachment reports the following:

1. There was such a theme "Frontier Days"
2. It was, in fact disregarded
3. Any float will be entered in parade.

However, there is a new question as to whether or not trailer hitches will be allowed in the parade. When my detachment comes back, I will report on this unsubstantiated allegation to be sure.

IFC Football

By Greg Sullivan

Frat football kicked off its season last Saturday. The two games pitted Sigma Lambda against Kappa Theta and Sigma Beta taking on Alpha Sigma Chi. Both games were played with a high level of intensity.

The first game got underway with Kappa Theta kicking off to Sigma Lambda. Lambda proceeded to drive the ball down the field and scored on a run up the middle. The extra point was good on a run around the end.

That was the only score of the half and Lambda lead 8 to 0. Kappa Theta played better in the second half but was unable to score. Sigma Lambda scored late in the game on a run making the final score Sigma Lambda 16 and Kappa Theta 0.

The deciding factor in the game was the superior depth and preparation of Sigma Lambda. Lambda had a big team and were able to substitute often while Kappa Theta had the same players on the field the whole game.

In the second game of the afternoon, Sigma Beta kicked off to Alpha Sigma Chi to start the action. After two short runs a third down bomb brought Chi to the five. Chi scored the game's first points on a sweep right by Jim Clark. Beta could not move the ball and had to punt. Chi drove down the field again behind the blocking of center Pat Reedy and the rest of the line. Jim Clark once again swept the right side for the touchdown. On their next possession it was an instant as Clark took the ball around the right side for a score. At the half the score stood Alpha Sigma Chi 20 and Sigma Beta 0.

Alpha Sigma Chi scored once more early in the second half and held on to win 28 to 12. The key to this game was the early lead built up by Alpha Sigma Chi which proved too much to overcome.

One final note. Although both games were hard fought, the teams played clean and showed a lot of sportsmanship as well as talent.

Club Football No More

By KEN SCHLUGER

St. Leo's football has stepped up this year from Club football to a Division III Independent. What this means is that the strong spirited and hustling football that's played here will go unnoticed no more. This year's team shows promise and a spirit that hasn't been seen on this campus for years. Head Coach Tilrow Morrison feels that with the "strong bunch of newcomers" and the returning students this year will be a great season.

Morrison feels that this year's schedule is one of the toughest he's had since coming to Leo's. Helping Coach Morrison this year are two new coaches to St. Leo's. Harry Stanley, a graduate of the University of Georgia, who also played there, will be coaching the lineman. His experience and dedication to the game should add a new dimension to this year's line crop. Also new to coaching but not to St. Leo's is last year's quarterback Jim Mulligan. But the coaches just build a team, the foundation must be there.

This year's team is above all Coach Morrison's expectations. I asked the coach to name some of the strong players and he said, "I have 54 boys and every one is just as tough as the other." This year's team will be a "joy to watch" Morrison feels and I agree. After watching the practice sessions I can't see anything but success for the Monarchs. There is more team spirit than exhibited in past years. And this is as much a part of the game as tackling and running.

The Monarchs of '78 can hit and hit hard. During practices they can be heard screaming, yelling, and the sounds of shoulder pads hitting all the way up at the dorms. With the new freshmen, the new coaches, the new spirit, and the coaching prowess of Morrison this should be a great year.

The first home game will be October 7 against Baptist Christian College who is also a Division III independent. Come on out and root the Monarchs to their first home win of the season.

1978: Womens Volleyball Powerful

By JOANI BEDORE

The whistle blows and a dangerously low serve sizzles across the net. A player bumps it high into the air, another sends it up on her fingertips, and the third, a powerful player, smashes it across the net with a well-placed spike. The team that does this successfully 15 times before the opponent does, wins. For the 1978 edition of the Lady Monarchs Volleyball Team, it seems to be just a matter of time before they, too, will put it all together and arise victorious.

This year's squad is marked by a careful blend of youth, experience and skill and will prove to be a strong team as the year progresses. Of the 13 players, eight are freshmen, which makes for a feeling of optimism for this squad. Although 0-5 at the present time, things are looking up for the Lady Monarchs.

At the Second Annual Florida Southern Invitational, September 29-30, the Lady Monarchs made an impressive showing against last year's champs-USF. In the match, the Lady Monarchs dominated with a powerful attack before falling behind 15-13. Leaders in this game were Tina Bentby (4) with quick movement and well-placed spikes, Nancy Grisson (12) and Karen Piche (11) with a well-balanced net attack and Barb McCormick (14, a team captain), Clair More (13) and Janer Hnasen (7) with accurate serving at crucial moments.

The performance of the Lady Monarchs in games against powerful contenders is impressive, and as the season progresses, St. Leo should be in the win column very soon.

Win Some

By GREG SULLIVAN

While waiting for the start of the Saint Leo soccer team's home opener against Warner Southern, some of the fans in attendance complained of the burning sun. But on this day no one was burned worse than the team from Warner Southern. Saint Leo totally outthrustled, outclassed and outscored their opponent in rolling to a 9 to 0 whitewash.

The Monarchs put the pressure on from the opening play and didn't let up. On goals by Fiato, Groenings, Barnett and Cassidy, the Monarchs led 4 to 0 at the half.

With such a commanding lead it was not likely the Monarchs would produce much more offense. But the scoring was far from over as the scoring barrage continued. Five goals were scored by Cassidy, Liandos, Fiato and Barnett. The last goal to the dismay of Warner Southern was scored by one of their own players.

The game's end saw the Monarchs on top 9 to 0. Aside from the big scoring, the Monarchs played a good team game as well as tough defense led by talented goalied Martin Conway. The Monarchs are now 1-0 on the season.

Lose Some

By Greg Sullivan

The Saint Leo Monarchs soccer team went into the September 25 game against Florida Southern with a 1-0 record and a 9-0 win under their belt. When the opening game of the Sunshine State Tournament against Florida Southern was over, the Monarchs had a 1-1 record and were on the losing end of a 9-0 score.

The Monarchs caliber of play was not the same level as the game before and as a result, they were handed their first loss. The team's next game will be October 3 against the same Florida Southern team at Lakeland.

Are they ready Coach?

Monarch's try for Homecoming Contest

Saint Leo — A noisy homecoming crowd and having played one game this season are the factors the Saint Leo College Football Monarchs will be counting on when they host Baptist Christian College in a 2 p.m. contest, Saturday, Oct. 7 at College Field.

The Monarchs will carry a 0-1 record after travelling to Jackson, Miss. last Saturday for a 65-0 beating by Millsaps College. Baptist Christian was 1-2 going into last weekend's action. The two teams met last season with the Warriors coming out on top 28-17.

"We'll be using revenge, plus a chance to soothe our wounded pride as motivating factors," said veteran Monarch head coach Tilrow Morrison.

"Turnovers, penalties and sloppy tackling killed us against Millsaps," bemoaned

Morrison. "They were a better team than us, but not by 65 points." He also added that a big difference was that Millsaps had already had three games, while the Monarchs were opening the season.

The head of the Monarch grid program said that his young squad would work on their blocking and tackling fundamentals in preparation for the game with the Warriors. "Our attitude is top-notch," stated Morrison. "We just have to be a bit more aggressive and use our heads."

The Monarchs should be at full strength with the exception of fullback Joe Holden, who broke a thumb in the loss to Millsaps. Holden will be replaced in the starting backfield by Earl Lane.

Looking Good!

By John Lowrey

Saturday, September 30, was the Monarchs first scrimmage against Seminole. This game will give Coach Gillis a better picture of his ball club. Coach Gillis must decide which players are qualified to fill the gaps left by Brian Davett and John Choman who were two of the leaders in last year's impressive team.

I have talked to a few of the ball players along with Coach Gillis. They feel this year's team should do as well or better than last year's team. Bruce Camorelli, a pitcher who is a returning letterman, says the Monarchs should to all the way. I wish them luck and I'm sure you do so, come out and support the Monarch team.
