

Guess Who's Coming To Super?

Bob Griese and Carl Noonan along with members of the Saint Leo staff: Mr. Allen Powers, Director of Public Relations, and Mr. Louis J. O'Gorman, Director of Men, toured the Saint Leo campus and its facilities, considering it as a possible location for a summer sports camp headed by Bob Griese and Carl Noonan. The camp is open to all youth between the ages of 8 and 16. Details of this meeting will be published in the next issue of the Monarch.

Christiansen Likely Successor -

Mr. Little Leaving

MONARCH LEARNED EARLIER this week that Mr. Peter Little, Director of Financial Aid and Placement, will not be rehired for the 1973-74 school year. Mr. Little was informed of the decision, disclosed by Dr. Southard at a recent presidential staff meeting, by Sister Lucy Faciane, late Monday afternoon. His employment will run until July 1, 1973.

No one has been named to replace Mr. Little, but sources say the likely candidate is Mr. James Christiansen, who is currently functioning as Director of Special Projects. Christiansen is also likely to succeed Mrs. Marion Ruffing, Supervisor of Records, while retaining his present position in an effort to consolidate.

Mr. Little, who has been working for Saint Leo for more than four years, received the news coolly.

During his tenure he has continually increased the amount of financial aid for students, brought recruiters to campus, and provided job information and placement assistance.

"MR. LITTLE IS an asset to Saint Leo College, as he is a conscientious worker and has upgraded the Financial Aid and Placement operations," Sister Lucy commented. "He knows his job and has established good rapport with the students and college employees with whom he works."

Editorial

Nourish Us Or Bury Us.

"I've been at many colleges and universities, both in the United States and Canada and I've worked with many newspapers. And I must confess that the facilities given this paper (The Lion) are the worst I've ever seen. How do they expect the students to put out a decent paper with the junk they're given to work with. I give Jim and his staff credit for doing the fine job they do. I'm surprised they keep their sanity."

Those frank words were uttered by a much traveled professor who taught briefly at Saint Leo. He made his criticisms against the newly acquired and vastly improved conditions of The Lion. One would shudder to think of his reaction, or the reaction of any newsman, had he experienced the despicable conditions of our predecessors.

We are grateful for our new home, secured by persistent efforts of Sister Lucy and the graces of Dr. Southard. But we are not yet endowed with the basic essentials of any self-respecting college newspaper. While others gaze dejectedly at stagnant budgets and remorse over the benefits they'd hoped they'd be given, we collect our forces and use our enviable position to fight for funds we're continually denied.

If Monarch is unimportant to Saint Leo College, then let us stop pretending and utilize its limited funds in a more worthy capacity. However, if there is a purpose for our existence, nourish us so we may grow in order to serve our purpose.

We are much more than the only accurate source of news information in our community. Serving as a forum for expression of ideas and attempting to guide the growth of our school are other facets of our operation. The only continuous history of our College can be found in our files. And lastly, perhaps most importantly, we share with our athletic teams the honor of representing Saint Leo by exhibiting a product created from the skills and talents of its students. Yet, the numerous miles traveled by our teams are but a fraction of the distance Monarch flies every two weeks to bring the world a little closer to Saint Leo. In this common goal we have a common pride.

Saint Leo employs coaches, who work long hours attempting to develop the potential of our athletes, but ignore or deny any sincere request for a course in basic journalistic writing. Yet they never hesitate to criticize. They offer lucrative scholarships and financial aid to promising players, but do little to motivate or encourage enthusiastic journalists.

Our school would not consider fielding a team unless it had bright new uniforms and a surplus of equipment, yet their conscience cares little that we are forced to scrounge through the trash and give of our own resources to produce a worthy newspaper.

The picture at the bottom of the page may cause red faces among the financial planners of Saint Leo, and rightly so. It will be viewed, not only by 1,500 locals, but by hundreds of parents and 80 collegiate newspaper staffs, who will laugh, or maybe cry, at the conditions we are forced to confront.

To compound the comedy is the fact that these conditions exist at a school where the annual cost for each student nears $3,000.

Mr. James Christiansen, likely successor to Financial Aid position, appears to be the key figure in Dr. Southard's consolidation plans.

This appalling scene is a re-enactment of John Sherrow, Monarch photographer, attempting to wash prints in urinal due to inadequate facilities. Administrators must feel this is a regular college newspaper function since budget increase was denied.

United Farm Workers

Fights Anti-Union Bill

THE UNITED FARM Workers AFL-CIO, the organization that has successfully sought to unionize the grape pickers of California, is now starting to do the same for Florida's 150,000 migrants working the orange groves.

To this point the UFW has successfully negotiated contracts with Coca Cola and Hood in Florida.

Recently action has been taken to curb United Farm Workers activities in Florida. There is currently a bill in the Florida House Commerce Committee that would have the effect of outlawing the union "hiring hall," for agricultural workers only. This bill is being introduced as a means of strengthening the state's "right to work law."

A "right to work" law allows non-union workers to work in a so-called union shop; that is where the majority of workers belong to a union. Although one may agree with this law at face value, of the 17 states that have such legislation, 16 are among states in which the average wage falls below the national median. Perhaps "right to work" really means "right to employ" as opposed to "right to be employed" at least at a just and livable wage with good working conditions.

BECAUSE THIS BILL deals directly with agricultural workers it further subjugates a people who already exist under wages and living conditions worse than any other group of our culture. If you doubt this you have not visited the local migrant camp in Dade City.

The bill makes use of the tactic that outlaws something that does not exist thereby leading the potential supporter to believe that there is some existing evil which must be curtailed. The bill refers to payment of dues, it makes the assertion that the United Farm Workers forces payment whereas in fact a voluntary check off system is written into U.F.W. contracts, thus allowing the worker to decide of his own free will if he will pay the $3.50 a month dues.

The union "hiring hall" is the basis of U.F.W. contracts. The hiring hall provides the employer on request within 72 hours all the workers he requests. Any workers not provided through the hiring hall may be directly hired by the employer. The effect of the hiring hall is to build leadership amongst the crews in steward positions and provide the employer and the employee with a predictable work schedule.

Further efforts of this bill, HB 74, would be to levy fines against crew stewards and the hiring hall staff as well as the employer and union, at up to $1000 a day to one year in county jail.

THE IMPLICATIONS OF this bill are far reaching and threatening to all organized labor in the state of Florida. To help defeat this bill the U.F.W. asks that you write your state representative and the Chairman of the Florida House Commerce Committee: Representative Donald L. Tucher, 224 Holland Building, Tallahassee, Florida 32304.

It need not be a lengthy statement, just your feelings stating your desire that HB 74 be defeated.

Dear Editor.

I HAD THE pleasure of visiting Saint Leo College recently. All I can say is "I've never seen anything like it." Take it how you will.

The reason I am writing this letter is in response to the inquiring reporter's opinion poll results regarding heroin. I've always found that one way to learn about a school's personality is by reading its newspaper. After reading about what Saint Leo students think about it, I find a very sick personality. The thing that bothered me most was that, of the 23 opinions printed, nine were anonymous. These people haven't got the guts to sign their names to what they believe.

I am from a town that has a large population of drug addicts, particularly heroin. This town is Gainesville, Florida. We also have a high crime rate. I have been robbed before. Sure, it burns me up when I find my car broken into and a tape player missing. You bet I'm mad when the window of my home has been jarred open and 40 dollars is gone. You can also be sure I don't want to hang the first junkie I see, either.

It's really easy for us good, clean, honest pot smoking citizens to sit back and point the finger at society's rejects. We can come up with such profound solutions as "I don't believe in capital punishment. I believe life imprisonment would be more humane." Anyone who comes up with a line such as this has never seen the inside of a jail cell. Prisons are not humane, prisons are hell.

TO PUT IT in another perspective, heroin pushers are none other than capitalists who enjoy the good life. The pushers' product just happens to be illegal. The pushers' product can kill. But so can General Motors' product kill. So can Dow Chemicals' products kill. So can the U.S. Marines kill. Who is putting them in jail?

Has anyone ever sat down and thought about exactly what the heroin problem is? The problem doesn't start with the pusher. The problem starts with the user. The solution is not to put the user in jail, but rather to show the user that someone cares. That's what heroin is all about. When the junkie can't get love and understanding from people, he gets it from the needle.

So what it all boils down to,

is you who sit back behind the protection of "anonymous" and point the finger and say lock them up or hang them. Yes, it is you who cause junkies to be junkies. You are not willing to extend an understanding thought to someone who needs your help.

This sounds odd from people dedicated to Christian principles.

Sincerely,
Richard Holmes
Gainesville, Florida

Student Leaders Display Lack Of Force

AFTER MUCH DELIBERATION, I feel compelled to voice my opinion in reference to the article published in the January 18th issue of The Lion concerning the meeting held with Dr. Southard by our student leaders. It is difficult for me to relate accurately the thoughts that have captured my skeptical mind. Nevertheless, perhaps to our good fortune, my scepticism will ignite a flame within our student body.

In as much as I highly respect students who give of their time toward the betterment of our college. I must say I am astounded with the lack of force recently displayed by our student leaders during their meeting with the President. Lack of leadership results in turmoil, chaos, and confusion among the student body.

I for one will not sit back and permit your article to calm my objections. If anything, it has given me a needle full of spunk which will survive until I feel I have done my part as an aware student.

How effective are our student leaders in assisting to achieve the needs of the student body? Will they always be satisfied with NO as an answer and continue on calmly as if our requests were not that necessary after all? If students' needs are not met, let's not blame anyone but the students. After all, we are the greatest force on any campus!

Students Apathetic, But Teachers Show Same

APATHY is a much used but little defined word. According to Webster's Handy College Dictionary, ap/a-thy is a lack of feeling; absence of emotion; indifference. Generally, this term has been associated with the students of Saint Leo College. Isn't it about time, though, that we take a look at the faculty members who are throwing their labels along with their stones at us students? How do they justify their name calling, when they themselves fit into the category of being "apathetic?"

You may ask, "How can that be? How could a student possibly speak so disrespectfully of any of our 'Great White Lesson Planners'?" Think now about the instructors here. Are they really interested in the subject matter they teach? How many really care about their courses? But that isn't the main complaint. Are they here for a bi-weekly paycheck or are they concerned about the students themselves - not just as objects to receive a lecture but as real people - you know, the human variety?

If they are so interested in all of us folks who come here each year with our $3000 in hand, then how come we never see them outside of the classroom - unless, of course, for a few precious moments of their time for advising purposes? How many instructors have made it to a Senate meeting - even just once? How many attended the Mass of Peace sponsored by the SGA? Five, maybe ... and the students weren't the only ones allowed out of class so that they could attend. How about the questionnaire sent out to 40 instructors by last year's "Lion" staff? A whole, big six responded. And these are just a few incidents.

INQUIRING REPORTER

Should Government Regulate Childbirth ?

IN RECENT YEARS concern of overpopulation has promoted many citizens to explore various methods of family planning.

Currently the U.S. has achieved zero population growth, that is the maintenance of a constant population level. This will have profound effects on education, housing, transportation and industry. The forecasters are looking deeply into this problem and asking if current trends will continue.

Our generation will be getting married and having children. By 1980 it will be our generation that will maintain or change current trends. Thus, the Inquiring Reporter asks: "What is your opinion of governmental control on the number of children you may have?"

I AM OPPOSED to governmental control on the number of offspring. It is an infringement on basic freedom. The basic right of the human species is to reproduce itself.

Ed Flemming

I feel we have the right to decide how many children we may have.

Carmel Jasper

THE GOVERNMENT SHOULD not have the right to limit the amount of children because it is the sole right of a woman and a man to reproduce themselves whether they choose to do so or not.

Eileen Quinn

I completely disagree with any type of governmental control; We have a moral right to decide the size of our family for ourselves. There are numerous methods of keeping down the birth rate and I believe voluntary control of one's number of children will be satisfactory.

Jim Loiacono

I believe that a family should be able to have as many children as they can afford. On this basis I feel the government should have no say.

Mary Flemming

I believe no one has the right to tell you how many children you may have, because that is a decision to be made by man and wife.

Tony Cainas

I DON'T AGREE. I feel I should be able to have as many kids as I and my wife want.

Ken Spock

I don't think it's fair. It is unconstitutional. It's an invasion of your privacy and your rights.

Ree

The government shouldn't have the right to say anything on the amount of children people may have.

Bill

No one has the right to tell a person how many children they should have, not even the government.

Alice Roscoe

It's a preposterous idea and should be filed under G - for garbage instead of government.

Rita Silvestro

I AM AFRAID I have already contributed to the overpopulation of the world with my four children. However, I believe that the government has the right to keep its people informed of the dangers of overpopulation and the right to disseminate birth control information. Beyond that, it is the people's right to have as many children as they wish and their duty to assume full responsibility for their decisions.

Elizabeth Maguire

This control should be imposed only if the population explosion endangers the life of future generations.

R. Fernandez

IN MY OPINION the government should have no jurisdiction on how many children a family can have.

Jim Zakoor

Government should limit each family only two children per family.

Peter O'Toole

I do not feel that the government should control private families. Each couple should be intelligent enough to decide the amount of children within their means.

Kevin Callahan

I don't think they should have the right to say how many children we can have, because it's your private life and if you can afford to have them you should be able.

Brian Brennen

I don't agree with governmental control because right now with sex education and more quality education going on in schools and other areas, that the U.S. has reached zero population control already. So we don't need it.

Chris O'Brien

No way!

Coleen M. Duffy

NO. I BELIEVE there are better ways the government could enforce such a restriction without making it a law. This law, I feel, would be unconstitutional so it couldn't be allowed. The government should change the tax system so that a family which has more than two children wouldn't be able to claim deductions. Also they could pay people to have no more than two children. Certainly there must be better ways to motivate people not to have large families, without having to make an unconstitutional law which would be a great problem to enforce.

DWO

I believe the government should take a neutral approach to family size. No government subsidies for birth control clinics. No favorable tax treatments for people with large families.

Tedrowe

Through our responses we found many students opposed to the idea of governmental control, for many feel that if they can afford children they should be able to have them.

Take a moment to get to know us as individuals ... you might be surprised to see a little bit of you reflected in us.

AND REMEMBER, WE do like and respect you. We only ask that if we are going to do something about unifying this campus ... don't you think you should give your fair share?

MORE MAD TEA PARTIES FROM THE Madhatters

"YOU ASKED FOR it, you got it ... The Beach Boys." That's the current vocal rage spreading across Saint Leo campus, but there's a lot more than meets the ear.

Tony Piunno and James Mulligan of the Mad Hatters have been pretty busy lately, highlighted by their recent bookings in the Tampa Bay area. The Mad Hatters have played recently at a "super bash" at the University of South Florida, sponsored by their I.F.C., which included over 500 Greeks. "One of the wildest bashes we have ever played at," remarked the Hatters. A similar response was shown on the campus of the University of Tampa.

The Mad Hatters have also been active in the Dade City area by playing a benefit dance for these upcoming events.

THE MAD HATTERS, besides looking forward to another exciting year at Saint Leo, have made some arrangements for bookings in their home town, Cleveland, Ohio, throughout the summer months. Shepcro Production Agency made it possible for the Hatters to play these engagements.

So stay tuned for more sounds from the Mad Hatters.

the migrant workers. They were requested to return for another engagement at the Dade City Civic Center on February 10, following a successful turnout at last Saturday's "Soul Hop."

Pat Seery, president of the S.G.A. of Saint Leo College, has arranged for the Mad Hatters to furnish the sounds at various S.G.A. functions throughout the semester. So keep your ears tuned in for information on

Woman's World

COME OUT AND SUPPORT THE WOMEN

THE WOMEN'S BASKETBALL team will play their first game on Thursday, February 8, at Florida Southern College in Lakeland at 7 p.m.

If anyone wishes to go, please contact Therese Mitchell, room 366 Snyder. In the event that more than 12 persons want to attend the game, a van will hopefully be provided. The team that has been practicing for the coming season consists of:

Jeanette Viggiani, Lynn Cross, Grace Beyer, Linda Munroe, Mary Kenny, Trish Walsh, Cindy Chapman, Pat Kruckel, Jean Frank, Paulette Mitchell, Kathy Clancy, Linda Bunch, Rhea Hendrickson, Mary Ann Pavlak, Madeline Cipriano.

THE WOMEN'S TENNIS team will be playing 10 matches in the near future. They are scheduled to play sometime in February. The exact date will be announced soon.

The players in the tennis team are:

Cindy Baker, Beth Crafton, Jan Farnsworth, Janette Buck, Judy Johnson, Judy Hainline.

The advisory council met on January 18. Among topics discussed was the recruitment of more women students in the next academic year.

MS. BETTY BURKE from the office of admissions was the guest speaker.

In this column, there will be a weekly feature of the women faculty members and secretaries. This is to introduce and help us become more familiar with each other.

MRS. ELIZABETH MAGUIRE was born in France and came to the U.S. after WWII. She is married and has four children. She holds a B.A. degree in education and an A.A. degree in French. She is also a guidance counselor and presently the Director of the Personal Resource Center. She enjoys working with people and considers herself very fulfilled with a career and her home life. She likes Saint Leo because of personal relationship and a more humane atmosphere.

Mrs. Beth Evans - She is the wife of a cattleman and a mother of two children: John 15 and Cindy 12. Mrs. Evans is the President's secretary. Before coming to Saint Leo she was the Divisional secretary for the Fine Arts Department at U.S.F. Mrs. Evans is a charming woman who enjoys her work and who believes "Saint Leo College is a very friendly place and Dr. Southard is a great boss."

SELF DEFENSE COURSE FOR WOMEN

THIS COURSE WILL be taught by Mr. Foster, who is a black belt and former karate national champion.

The classes begin Thursday, February 8, at 7 p.m. They will be held in Snyder basement. Fee: $20.00 - 8 week course.

Coeds may have their bill sent home if they desire.

CONGRATULATIONS, Colleen Duffy. She was just hired by Proctor and Gamble to work after her graduation from Saint Leo College as a consumers investigator. I hope that all of our seniors will be just as successful in finding a job.

Monday, January 22, there was a Congressional hearing in Tampa at the Fox theatre. The Florida legislators heard the testimony of people for and against the Equal Rights Amendment ratification. The majority of those present were in favor of the amendment. Two Saint Leo coeds attended: Chris Tuffo and Bonnie Bond. The A.W.S. encourages all coeds to write to the Senate and House committees to support the E.R.A., or write: Robert C. Hartmett, Chairman for House Committee, P.O. Box 1440; South Miami 33143.

and Dan Scarborough, Chairman for Senator Civil Committee, 404 West Monroe Street, Jacksonville, FL 32203.

Community Prays For Peace

ON JANUARY 19, at eleven o'clock, classes were suspended, enabling the students, faculty, and clergy of Saint Leo to join together in the bowl to hold a "Mass for Peace." Father Jude Krogol celebrated the Mass with Father Malachy Maguire as concelebrant. Both Brother Peter Mitchell and Abbot Fidelis assisted with the distribution of communion.

Father Thomas Keeney, a new member of our faculty, delivered the homily. The theme of his address was peace attained without justice is impossible.

The members of the faculty and student body that participated in the Mass were Francis Martin and Bill Callahan. Pat Donworth and other members of the Christian folk singing group on campus provided music during the celebration of the Mass.

An Estimate

The Cost Of The War

WASHINGTON - THE PENTAGON - January 13, 1973. The Vietnam War, the first war of the computer era, undoubtedly has generated more statistics than any other war, perhaps more than any other-

U.S. combat dead - 45,933 as of January 13, 1973, 34 per cent were draftees and 12 per cent were black. Before Nixon took office 30,991 were killed since January 20, 1969, 14,942 have died.

U.S. non-combat deaths as a result of murder, traffic accidents, illness, etc. amount to 10,298.

South Vietnamese combat dead 183,528. Other allies 5,225 (est.) Viet Cong and North Vietnamese combat deaths 925,000. South Vietnamese civilians dead 415,000, injured 935,000, from January '65 through November '72.

(Est.) - refugees registered requested the Mass in order that everyone could join together to pray for the fair treatment and hopefully immediate release of POWs. Peace through justice was the main theme of the Mass.

7,103,800 unregistered 2,000,000 North Vietnamese civilian casualties - unknown. The pentagon papers and other documents state that over 1000 civilians per week lost their lives during the 1965-68 bombings of the North.

U.S. wounded requiring hospitalization - 153,300. U.S. wounded not requiring hospitalization - 150,316. South Vietnamese seriously wounded - 519,525. Other allied wounded - 11,980. American MIA's - 1,340 POW's - 589. Communist POW's Viet Cong 28,451. North Vietnamese 9,000.

U.S. cost of the war about $105,000,000,000 +, not counting the last few months.

Total number of U.S. servicemen who have served in Vietnam 2.6 million. Tons of allied bombs dropped - 7,100,000 millions tons (World War II in Europe and North Africa 1.6 million; in the Pacific 500,000) Ground delivered munitions 7,500,000 million tons. Fixed wing aircraft lost 3,693, helicopters 4,861, at a total cost of about 6,000,000,000 dollars.

U.S. military deserters at large now - 32,557 July 1, 1966 - June 30, 1972. Of the total number, 432,422, 92 per cent are now in custody or voluntarily turned themselves in (not all men were prosecuted).

NIXON RELEASES 73 BUDGET

"... Impeccable economic policy and intolerable social policy." -Economist Arthur Okun

President Richard Nixon sent Congress his $268.7 billion budget for fiscal '74 Monday. The budget cut or eliminated dozens of domestic programs the late President Johnson initiated. Such as aid to states for alcoholism services, sewage treatment plants, flood control programs, drug abuse and consumer programs, and almost a complete halt to federal housing. Increases in defense up from 74.8 to 79 billion dollars, spending for research and development of a national energy plan $3.1 billion for NASA, civil rights law enforcement funds and $3.8 for foreign aid. The President called this budget the most domestic oriented of the four he has sent to the Congress. No funds for reconstruction on Indochina were included in the budget, sources said if it becomes necessary later other programs will be trimmed.

THE WATERGATE

JURY DECIDES GUILTY

The defense and the government both concluded their arguments Monday in the Watergate trial, concerning the seven month old conspiracy, burglary, bugging, and wire tapping of Democratic National Headquarters in Washington. The two defendants, members of the Nixon reelection committee, took two hours to present their defense. U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica, who earlier accepted guilty pleas from five others accused of the breakin, late Tuesday evening the jury found both defendants guilty on all counts with a total of 80 years and up to $100,000 in fines between the two. The two defendants are James McCord, a former security chief for the Nixon campaign, and G. Gordon Liddy, a former finance counsel.

CEASE FIRE

HUNDREDS OF VIOLATIONS and casualties in 1000's. Attacks and counter attacks continued on both sides leaving disorder and disarray on both sides. Saigon reported that since the cease fire effect on Saturday 426 battles have taken place leaving at least 371 dead. The International Control Commission is without transportation and communication equipment which is to be supplied by the four signers of the peace accords.

GOP CONGRESSMEN URGE RELATIONS WITH CUBA

Twelve Republican Congressmen have urged that steps be taken to restore relations with Cuba. The Congressmen said such action would eliminate an apparent policy contradiction which strives for friendship with China and the U.S.S.R. while at the same time condemning Cuba. The President's most recent statements indicate that such a change in U.S. foreign policy is not foreseen as within the limits of President Nixon's second term in office.

B52 BOMBERS

U.S. ADMITS TO raids in Laos and Cambodia. For the first time the U.S. has acknowledged that American warplanes had been supporting Laotian and Cambodian troops. These missions have been concluded in Cambodia and should cease in Laos with an expected agreement within the next two weeks.

INTERIOR DEPARTMENT

ONLY PROFITABLE AGENCY in government earns $2.2 billion. Last year the Interior Department lost $1.3 billion but this year a profit will be realized as a result of the sale of timber and power and grazing rights plus rents and royalties from the oil rich continental shelf. Projections indicate however that this will not continue. It is estimated that Interior Department will be in the hole five million dollars in fiscal '74.

GREGORY TO END TWO YEAR FAST

Comedian Dick Gregory will break his two year fast on the day the last POW has returned to the states. He has gone for two years without a bit of food. Currently he weighs 98 pounds, down from 170. He has lived on fruit juice since April 24, 1971. Last year he visited over 200 college campuses.

GOOD NEWS

LAIRD: HALT TO DRAFT. The Defense Department has announced an immediate halt to the draft, except for doctors and dentists, saying it will now rely on volunteers to fill the ranks of the armed forces. Laird's order has the effect of reversing a previous order calling up an additional 5000 men between March and June. Men must continue to sign up at their local draft boards and take the pre-induction physical.

- The Gettysburg National Cemetery opened its last grave site, thus joining scores of other military burial places which have been forced to turn away applicants because of lack of space.

Answers

1. c (mushroom). Psilocybin is the active ingredient of the stropharia cubensis, also known as the magic mushroom. It is grown mainly in Mexico in the Western Hemisphere, sometimes for religious meditative purposes.
2. b (animal tranquilizers). Most people who think they've had THC have actually had tranquilizers normally used for horses and other large animals. Actual tetrahydrocannabinol is rare, its synthesizing a costly process, and is generally manufactured exclusively for government tests.
3. b (dysentery). Both hepatitis and subacute bacterial endocarditis can occur from using a dirty needle. Hepatitis is the most common disease, and the most easily noticeable.
4. c (feelings of love and peace). Speed, besides causing physical damage, produces paranoia and fear in some, depending on dosage and length of run. Even on one diet pill, cheerful people often get a little depressed. It's certainly not a drug of love.
5. b (hashish). Many times as potent as grass, hashish is usually sold in grams. It is made from the resin of the marijuana plant. In Far Eastern countries, hashish is smoked most commonly and marijuana (bhang) is considered not as desirable.
6. b (mescaline). Mescaline is a psychedelic and produces no physical addiction necessary for withdrawal. Downers and smack (heroin) are addicting in the classic fashion.

Tars Smash Monarchs 115-47

The stimulatingly aggressive Rollins Tars, behind the torrid shooting of 6'4 junior Bob McNally and six other players who scored in double figures, defeated the lackluster depressing Saint Leo College Monarchs by the score of 115 to 47 last Tuesday night before 400 howling fans at the Marion Bowman Activity Center.

Ed Jucker, a former Cincinnati Royal basketball star and now Coach of the Tars, brought the Winter Park team in with a 8-7 won-lost record. Kaye's cagers entered the game with a 7-8 won-lost record despite losing in overtime to the Bethune Cookman Wildcats last Saturday night 69-61.

The Monarchs, with suspended 6'7 junior forward Jim Kiley out indefinitely, started: 6'2 Mike Arnold Guard 6'0 Frank Lawrence Guard 6'3 Nate Crawford Center 6'3 Peter Kuhlman Forward 6'1 John Kotzelnick Forward

They trailed only 12-11 after playing nearly six minutes and the game looked like a typical

S.L.C. - Rollins battle. But Rollins behind the scoring of Bob McNally (19 points), Bruce Howland (16 points), and Steve Heis (16 points) immediately outscored Saint Leo 17 to 4, to race to a 29-15 lead with five minutes to play in the first half.

AT THIS POINT Head Basketball Coach Norm Kaye gave his starters the 'heave-ho' and replaced them with freshmen Richard Tiggelaar and James Daw, sophomore Frank Shields, and juniors George Byrne and Alan Hengesbach. These players had averaged about two minutes of playing time between them in the Monarchs' first 15 games.

Rollins took a 41 to 19 halftime lead as the teams headed for the dressing rooms. The Tars shot 58% from the field, compared with the Monarchs' 30%. The Monarchs were outrebounced, outhustled, outshot and made more turnovers than the visiting team. Rollins boasted two players who were 6'6, two players 6'5 and one player 6'4. Saint Leo had no one over 6'3.

In the second half, amid the boos and negative cheers of the student fans, Kaye again started his second string. The odds mounted against this group of inexperienced players as mistakes, errors and turnovers gave the Tars easy baskets. With seven minutes to play in the game, Rollins took a commanding 90 to 40 lead, with Kaye sticking with the substitutes.

Rollins continued to shoot at a phenomenal percentage as they connected on 31 of 46 shots for 68%. Amid the mock cheers and insults of the fans, the first string was put back on the floor with two minutes to play and the score 110 to 44. Obviously embarrassed they continued to hustle even though they were behind by 66 points.

THE STUDENT FANS did give the second string a fine round of applause as they left the game late in the second half. They outscored the varsity 28 to 19 and had a better shooting percentage.

The final score of 115 to 47 was flashed on the board and then quickly flashed off, as an indication to forget this off night. Indeed statistician Bob Baker, after the game commented, "You don't really want these," ruefully pointing to the final totals.

High man for the Monarchs was Alan Hengesbach with 17 points and Frank Shields added nine points.

The Monarchs' next home game will be Saturday night, Feb. 3, against Palm Beach Atlantic and the following Thursday night against Ferris State College. The Rollins Tars entertain Eckerd College in Winter Park on Feb. 3 and then travel to Orlando to play Florida Tech. University.

Angry Fans Voice Dislike of Kay

IN A RELATED development during last Tuesday's game, many Saint Leo fans and students were extremely active in booing Head Basketball Coach Norm Kaye for his unpopular tactics of taking out the starting five late in the first half and not putting them back until the game was almost over.

The negative reaction to Kaye surfaced last year when a student wrote a letter to The Lion criticising Kaye's attitudes toward his players and some of his basketball tactics.

The retrospection appeared in a game last Saturday night against the Bethune Cookman Wildcats, when the Monarchs seemingly appeared to have the game won in the final minutes, but eventually lost in overtime. A large number of fans at the game's end were asking for Mr. Kaye's head and other parts of his anatomy.

Against Bethune in the overtime period, Jim Kiley and the rest of the team parleyed mistakes and turnovers into losing the game. Outscored 12 to 4, Kiley was later sent to the bench and then to the dressing room and finally the next day it was learned that he had been suspended from the team for an indefinite period.

MANY BOOS CASCADED onto the floor as the fans thought that the "so-called star" of the team should not be treated this way. Kiley, a junior from Greenwich, Conn., has not lived up to the rather rabid acclaim awarded him. He has not been able to step into the shoes of Mike O'Brien or the team manager as a matter of fact. He has been on a full tuition scholarship for the past three years and has improved his shooting eye but nothing else.

Against Rollins, Kaye pulled his five starters out of the ball game and replaced them with some inexperienced substitutes, who despite the adverse handicaps tried to tackle the experienced, talented and torrid shooting Rollins team.

The taller Tars easily defeated the baby Monarchs as the mock cheers and assorted boos transcended the monotony on the floor. Cries of "Why don't you pay the cheerleaders?" and "Where's Tuson?" echoed among the choruses of "Goodbye Norm."

One optimistic factor in favor of the fans was the flickering emergence of some kind of school spirit however negative or positive. In the past any kind of cheering came from the cattle prodded mouths of pledging Greeks. At least now with the energetic underclassmen in attendance, cheers resound throughout the building, faintly reminiscent of the O'Brien days.

Monarchs Weak On Road Lose 5 Out Of 6 Games

THE EXCITING, HUSTLING Saint Leo Monarchs notched their sixth victory of ten games of this young 1972-73 season last night, when they outfought a determined visiting Saint Mary's College team from Maryland by a score of 74-66 at the Marion Bowman Activity Center.

Despite losing to the University of Hartford Hawks last Saturday afternoon in a depressing game, the student fans were out in force for the 8:00 o'clock game which pitted the upset minded, mentally tough Monarch team against a more experienced and taller Saint Mary's College, which boasted the NCAA Small College 1972 Rebound Leader in 6'8 Bill Simmons.

Saint Leo won their fifth game in six, as they took a slim 30-27 halftime lead and then came out gunning in the second half as they shot 53 per cent from the field and outscored Saint Mary's 44 to 39.

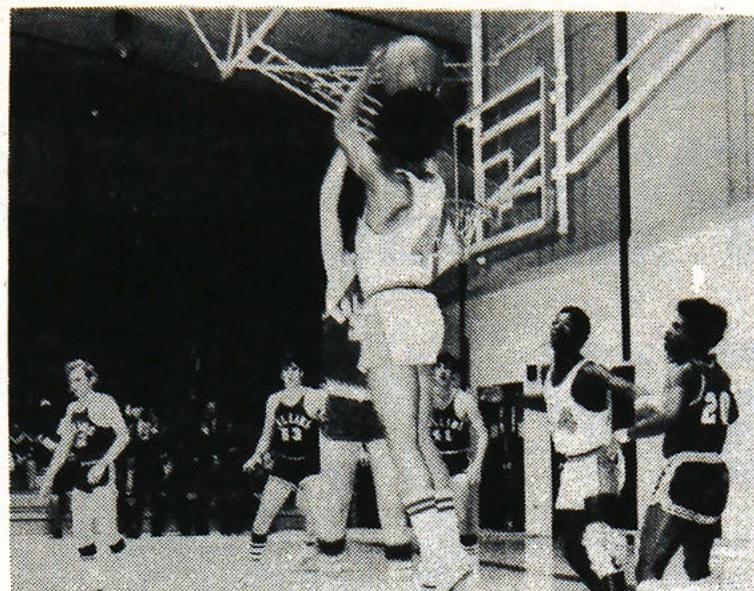

For Head Basketball Coach and Athletic Director Norm Kaye, it was an exasperating first half, as the poor shooting Monarchs missed their first 11 shots and fell behind 16 to 2 to the physically impressive Maryland team. With seven minutes to go in the first half, the Monarchs behind the clutch shooting of Mike Arnold and freshman Peter Kuhlman narrowed the score to 23-18.

Saint Leo fought the Saints as they narrowed the score to 25 to 24 before a Nate Crawford jump shot put the Monarchs ahead for the first time, with a little over two minutes remaining in the first half.

BUT THE SAINTS came marching right back as they converted eight straight points to take a 49-41 lead. The Monarchs, now playing aggressive ball, tied the game at 49 all with a little under nine minutes to play. Junior Jim Kiley came off the bench and senior John Conley, playing in his finest game, proceeded to lead the Monarchs to a 59-53 lead, a lead which Saint Leo never gave up.

In a game against Oglethorpe University in Atlanta, the Monarchs were within reach of a victory but were unable to pull it out. They went down to defeat 80-72. Jim Kiley was high for the game with 17 points, and Guillermo Cancio-Bello and Frank Lawrence in action against Rollins College.

Mike Arnold had 14 and 11 points, respectively. From here they travelled to Birmingham Southern in Alabama where poor shooting plagued the club. The final score was a devastating 54-36 with Nate Crawford leading the attack with eight points. On the road again the Monarchs went to Pensacola. Once again, however, victory was not to be ours as the Monarchs went down to defeat 87-63. Kiley led the scoring for the team with 20, while John Kotzelnick had 13 and Frank Lawrence 11.

Once again the Saint Leo team returned home against a much taller New Hampshire squad, featuring a 7'2 center. Saint Leo, however, rose to the occasion and defeated the Penmen 73-64. Nate Crawford was high for the game with 24 points. . . . Guillermo Cancio-Bello had 17, while New Hampshire's 7'2 center had 16 points. On Saturday, January 27, the Monarchs faced an always competitive Bethune Cookman team. This is always one of Saint Leo's toughest opponents and this game proved to be no exception. It was a hard fought contest and at the end of regulation time the score was 57-57. The Wildcats were playing for the last shot, which they missed with eight seconds. The rebound was taken by Cancio-Bello who took the ball to half court for a shot but it missed by just about a foot. The much taller Wildcats controlled the game in overtime and eventually won 69-61.

CURIOUS TO KNOW what was and has been our downfall on the road, I asked Coach Kaye upon his return what his feelings were on the recent road trip. Coach Kaye commented that if the Monarch team fails to clear the offensive boards your only going to get one shot and you can't win taking only one shot on every offensive play.

Upcoming games will feature Palm Beach Atlantic on February 3 and Ferris State on February 8. Following this the Monarchs once again take to the road on what hopefully will be a more successful trip. The Monarchs will return home with a game against University of West Florida on February 16.

The Monarchs scored the last eight points in the half to take a 30-27 lead to the locker room. The fans were pounding the seats and yelling, totally oblivious to the fact that during the last game many fans were cursing Kaye for his handling of the players in the loss to Hartford. After missing their first 11 shots, Saint Leo came on to make 12 of 26 shots for a 32 percentage. The Monarchs were perfect at the free throw line, making six out of six.

In the second half, Saint Leo jumped to a nine point lead with 16 minutes to play, behind the shooting of Crawford, Arnold, and Frank Lawrence.

Frank Lawrence Mr. Hustle

AS THE SAINT Leo Monarchs began their 1972-73 basketball season, there was much talk about some of the new talent that was present on this year's squad. This article which I am writing concerns one of those new faces - Frank Lawrence.

Born and raised in Jacksonville, Illinois, Frank Lawrence has proved himself to be an excellent basketball player. He attended Jacksonville High School where he not only captained his team but went on to be named as an honorable mention all state cage player. From there he attended Robert Morris Junior College, where he not only continued to improve his basketball talents but was also named to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. When I asked Frank why he chose Saint Leo as the place to continue his college education he said that there were no special reasons for coming here. It seems that his coach and Robert Morris and our own Head Coach Norm Kaye are good friends and basically that was why he came. He is on a full scholarship and is studying for a double major, physical education and elementary education. When asked what he thought of the educational aspect of Saint Leo, he responded, "The physical education program here is very good, along with the elementary education program as well." Frank also feels that the Monarch basketball program is young but steadily improving with every game and that he is happy to be here.

In an attempt to find out from another student what he thinks of the general campus life here at Saint Leo, I asked Frank his feelings on this matter. He said that the social life here was something new to him due to the limited number of blacks on campus. He did, however, find all of the people that he has come in contact with to be friendly and considerate persons and that overall the social life was pretty good.

Pete Kuhlman hits the jump shot against the New Hampshire Penmen. The Monarchs displayed an effective defense against their 7'2" center and went on to win 73-64.

Kiley Suspended For Misconduct

RUMORS SURFACED MONDAY about the reported suspension of Jim Kiley, Saint Leo's premier 6'7 forward.

A reporter for The Monarch asked Head Coach Norm Kaye about this and he admitted that "Kiley had been suspended from the team." He further added that, "it was for an indefinite period."

He stated that he had not suspended him for any kind of non-hustling play on the basketball floor. Instead he added that "insubordination" had been the reason for his being sent to the dressing room.

Kaye added that "he will be allowed to practice with the team on Wednesday afternoon, but that any further play in the games will be looked into later."

JIM KILEY COULD not be reached for any comment at press time.
