Saint Leo College To Be Evaluated by Southern Association

Re-accreditation Comm On Campus

The Visitation Accrediting Committee of the Southern Association of Colleges is on campus through Wednesday, March 31.

The essential purpose of the self-study program is the improving of educational effectiveness. As a part of the program, this committee visitation is designed to be of assistance to Saint Leo College.

The members of the Visitation Accrediting Committee are:

Reverend Monsignor John F. Murphy, Chairman — president of Thomas More College;

Dr. William J. Wade — dean of the faculty, King College;

Dr. Benjamin W. Griffith — English department chairman, West Georgia College;

Dr. Christopher L. Bramlett — assistant professor, department of chemistry, University of Alabama;

Mr. Harry L. Beck — dean of students, Thomas More College;

Sister Mary Reginald — librarian, St. Mary's Dominican College;

Mrs. Jule R. Stanfield — comptroller, Armstrong State College;

Dean, W. David Robbins — School of Business Administration, University of Richmond; and

Dr. Walter R. Guyton — academic dean, Carson-Newman College.

The College of Delegate Assembly, in its Standards for Colleges, specifies that in each ten-year period a member institution must make a comprehensive self-study which is to be evaluated at the institution by a qualified committee of educators.

The members of the visiting committee act as evaluators, not inspectors. These people are here to assist the college in its growth and development. They are here to study the quality of the institution in the light of its stated purposes and objectives. Procedurally, the committee will evaluate the self-study and information obtained from other sources as they relate to the whole institution — its strengths, its weaknesses, its compliance with the Standards, and its approach to the solution of problems.

Besides what is contained in the self-study made by the administration with the aid of faculty, staff and students, the committee will be looking into other areas of concern. The committee will be questioning students for their opinions, sitting in on classes, looking at campus publications, and getting a bird's-eye view of the college's entire atmosphere.

Throughout the visit, the committee will meet so that each member can share his findings and observations. Through these exchanges, the members can confirm their impressions and determine additional areas that should be examined.

The committee began its visit yesterday afternoon at which time the chairman, Reverend Monsignor John F. Murphy, outlined the activities for the committee.

As the visit draws to a close, the committee will meet in an executive session to review findings and agree upon conclusions. As the final activity the committee will meet with President Bowman and other members of the administration for an oral report in summary of the committee's findings. At this final meeting, the committee will not make any suggestions or prediction of re-accreditation.

The Visitation Accrediting Committee will make a full report of its visit at Saint Leo College. This report will be submitted to the Atlanta office of the Commission. The report will consist of general observations of the self-study as it relates to the involvement, comprehensiveness, self-evaluation, and projections.

Each member of the committee will prepare a rough draft of his part of the committee's report. This rough draft constitutes a nearly complete report of his role in the evaluation of Saint Leo College. After each member of the committee has prepared his portion of the report, the full report will be read and approved by the committee.

The complete report is prepared in draft form by the chairman. The chairman is expected to edit and possibly rewrite the report to assure consistency of presentation. He then will circulate the complete draft among the committee members and a copy to President Bowman, so that each will have the opportunity of suggesting any correction of fact. It is then the responsibility of the chairman to determine whether or not corrections proposed by the members of the committee or by President Bowman are valid.

When the committee approves the final draft it is sent to the Atlanta office of the Commission. The visiting committee's report, along with other documents including the Inventory of Programs and Resources, will be reviewed by the appropriate committee of the Commission next autumn. The results of the evaluation will then be made public.

Applications Out For Next Year's Editors

Application forms for student editors are now available at the Office of Student Government. All forms must be returned to Student Government by Friday, April 2.

Positions available are: The Lion (newspaper) — one editor, two associate editors; The Golden Legend (yearbook) — one editor, one associate editor; The Encounter (literary magazine) — one editor. Each position carries a partial scholarship.

Requirements set by the Student Publications Board state that all editors be in good disciplinary standing and that editors have a minimum G.P.A. of 2.50 and that associate editors have a minimum G.P.A. of 2.00.

All applicants will be interviewed at a meeting of the Student Publications Board to be held on Monday, April 5.

Editor's Note: It should be stated that student publications are a vital part of the socio-academic realm of any collegiate institution. Students should have a considerable concern for student publications and should consider working in an editorial position, provided they judge themselves to be qualified and competent.

Learn From Your Mistakes, Please!

by Thomas S. Adamczyk, Associate Editor

This note of distress is addressed to members of the administration who have failed miserably from their mistakes but fail to learn from them.

A few weeks ago, Sister Lucy Faciane, O.S.B., made in my mind a mistake that affected my very optimistic view that Saint Leo College was beginning to grow and learn from its past mistakes. I am referring to the incident of Sister Lucy not renewing Mrs. Lucy Young's contract as Director of Women.

In order to do justice to this particular situation, I would like to present to the student body some facts on this incident and then allow the students to decide whether it was a mistake or my mistake.

Two weeks ago, myself and several members of the student body met with Sister Lucy about this matter. At this meeting we asked for the reason why Mrs. Young's contract was not renewed, and why Sister Lucy felt that Miss Rosa Fernandez was better qualified for the monumental task of Director of Women. Sister gave us three reasons: (1) she believes that Miss Fernandez could do the job just as well as Mrs. Young; (2) Miss Fernandez could play in two roles for the same pay — namely, Director of Women and a Housemother for one of the girls' dorms; on the other hand, Mrs. Young couldn't live in a dorm, thus forcing the college to hire another housemother; and (3) Miss Fernandez needed the job to support her mother and sister living in Miami; whereas, Mrs. Young could be supported by Dr. Young, who is a faculty member of the college.

These three reasons appear to be a bit superfluous and definitely not concrete enough in my understanding of this matter. The action of Sister Lucy will, no doubt, change the life of some people and also possibly result in stunting the life of an institution that claims to be growing.

For an institution that raves about the excellent rapport that goes on between the administration and the students, there seems to be some definite inconsistency here. During that meeting with Sister Lucy, I asked whether any students were consulted in this administrative change. She replied something to the effect that she believed that the matter was a professional one and that students didn't need to be consulted. Oddly enough, there were some two hundred and fifty female students affected directly or indirectly by this matter.

Noteworthy, too, is the fact that Sister Lucy told us that the college shouldn't be concerned with family matters but rather concerned with how the individual can function in his/her position. However, she declared, in her rationalization for hiring Miss Fernandez, that Miss Fernandez needed to support her mother and sister. This seems a bit incoherent.

Lastly, I question whether a woman who is only a few years older than the students can play the role as both a close friend and mother image for those students who need such a person?

Some End-of-the-Year Observations

by David Alphonse Bruno, Associate Editor

As Associate Editor of The Lion since September 23, 1970, I have seen printed a few student and faculty opinions. Many I did not agree with, some I thought worthless. But we are all entitled to our opinions.

I wasn't able to express my own opinions, however, because of the nature of this position. Therefore, I will use this opportunity to write in this capacity, most likely for the last time.

I say this: Do not think unfavorably of Saint Leo College. As in life we only profit when we make an investment; the same applies here. Hard work is the pass key to opportunity and gain.

The many who work for this College, outstandingly the clergy, have this in common: they care about the students and the College.

Doors of communication here are wide open. If someone feels left out, perhaps he hasn't tried to come in. I have met with almost all the College officials and have been welcomed by them.

Opportunities surround the students. I have found many facing me this year. Saint Leo College is growing. As it does, so do we.

But there is one thing that irks me. Many dedicated faculty and administrative personnel will not return this fall. 'The great debt' is one factor. There are others.

Dr. Klara M. DeKont, one of our most devoted faculty members, will probably not return next year. This is a loss to the College.

Other personnel changes are imminent. As Dr. Southard takes office, so does the new S.G.A. Dr. Southard is already actively involved with the College. Gone is Angelo. We will miss him.

What happens to the College will affect us all. We are S.L.C.

Everyone who has helped Saint Leo this year deserves praise.

I hope I have served you well via The Lion. It has been a fruitful year. To everyone who has helped The Lion — especially our printer — I offer great appreciation. Thank you all. —D.A.B.—

Letters to the Editor

Credit Where Credit Is Due

This letter is in response to an article which appeared in the March 12, 1971, edition of The Lion entitled "Residence Housing — What to Expect".

In this article, many recommendations and suggestions for next year's housing arrangements were mentioned (lounge areas furnished, fewer students in the Roderick Hall, etc.). It also stated that these proposals were developed by the Residence Hall Committee, which consists of chaplains, the Director of Residence Halls, and floor directors.

What this article failed to mention was the fact that it was the Roderick Hall Investigating Committee which first brought the horrid living conditions of that dorm out in the open, via this paper, as well as by memos sent out by the S.G.A. It was this committee that asked Fr. Marion to take whatever action was needed to remedy the situation. (Fr. Marion's response was extremely empathetic and the action will be taken this summer to renovate Roderick Hall.)

This article also failed to mention the fact that a Residence Hall Committee was formed in the Student Senate which has met on a weekly basis with Fr. Deforde, C.O., in hopes of rectifying conditions which now exist, as well as making recommendations for next year.

All of the recommendations that were mentioned in the article were made at one time or another by members of this committee or by Fr. Deforde, who functioned as the committee's moderator.

The only two chaplains that this committee has ever met with are Brother Fred and Fr. Deforde.

This committee (composed of Karen DeNunzio, Ed Carhart, Ed Jacobberger, Wayne Holleran and John O'Rourke) has worked long and hard. They are to be thanked for their concern and dedication. Fr. Deforde is also to be thanked for the endless amount of help and guidance he has given this committee.

"Thank you" to these committee members and to all those who have attempted to make St. Leo a better place to live.

—J. Patrick Ryan

A Word of Thanks

I would like to thank all of those who gave me their vote and support during the recent campaign.

Also, my congratulations go out to President-Elect Peter Crover and my hopes that everyone will assist him in making the '71-'72 school year a good one.

Responsibility For Life

The formal and informal debate about theological, academic, social and political freedom raged for the year of 1970. The questions that were so often projected seemed to be involved with the right of a person to speak his mind, or to present his social, political, theological or academic beliefs without academic confinement or editorial delineation.

Perhaps in the heat of personal involvement, the crux of the matter has been missed by many. Jesus in teaching his disciples, indicated that at a particular time, they were not ready for some things to be said to them. Consequently, Jesus held his peace when he could have mystified his followers and given the impression of sophistication. What Jesus had to say, and what he had to feel, had to be contained by himself, lest he hinder the maturation of his disciples and bring about the division and derision of that great institution, the Kingdom of God.

The great teacher was aware that as a dedicated shepherd of his people, he had a responsibility to them to, not only to teach and lead, but to protect them, their psychic, their community, and their institutions from statements they were not prepared to receive.

Always the freedom of the Christian suggests responsibility. This freedom and this responsibility may cause a course of expression to be changed into another channel, but the channel is never blocked. The fountains of living waters need to flow. The trees of life planted by viril rivers need to flourish. But the water must flow into prepared vessels or flooding may result. The trees of life need to bud, but if they bud too soon the frost may stunt life.

The search for truth must continue, and when the truth is found, it must be proclaimed with wisdom, discretion, and with a deep sense of responsibility for life.

—Dr. William Young

Officer No. 4, Shape Up

Every week on campus you hear of someone's tapedeck, radio, tapes or speakers being robbed out of St. Leo student cars in our parking lots. There is very little to no protection for girls walking from the library or the boys' dorms at night. Security says they haven't enough people to cover those areas. Could it be that they are too busy giving out parking tickets?

Let me use officer no. 4 as an example. A car pulled up to the front of Lee Marvin Hall and stopped. The driver got out of the car, and went upstairs, leaving the car running. The engine was then turned off (to save gas) by one of the four persons still in the car. Within seconds, a security car pulled up directly behind the car, so the car couldn't make a fast get-away (good thinking, officer no. 4). Officer no. 4 then got out of his car and without even consulting any of the students in the car began to fill out one of those nice red tickets he carries on his hip (real official). When one of the students got out of the car and explained that the driver went up to his room to get gas money and that the car was turned off to save the little gas that was left, officer no. 4, still busy writing out the ticket, said, "Move out of the light, boy."

I'm wondering if this whole show of authority by officer no. 4 was to impress San Antonio's famous Chief Zimmerman (were you Chief?), who also made the scene of the violation.

I hope officer no. 4 doesn't plan to further his law enforcing career beyond the ticket writing stage, for a real detective would have checked the gas gauge. Right Chief?

SLC — "The People's Place"

In the first issue of the paper, a statement of policy described The Lion to be "a forum of opinion as well as a medium of information to the collegiate community." Throughout the year, the editorial staff has held that the paper is vital to the intellectual growth of the campus. It has endeavored to portray a just and well-rounded picture of the overall academic, social and philosophic atmosphere pervading the institution.

As idealistic as these ambitions may seem, we firmly hope that we have succeeded in realizing them, at least in part.

Without a doubt, the 70-71 year has been an eventful and growing year for Saint Leo College. It was a year that witnessed a mutual dedication on the part of all — students, faculty, staff and administrators. The visitation crisis was just one example of such inter-dependence and devotion towards a common cause. In many a student's room, one can still find, mounted on the wall, a copy of a collage that appeared in the October 1st issue of the paper. The collage makes reference to the visitation crisis and is entitled "Sept. 21-24, 1970 — a time of by John W. Frank, Editor-in-Chief fear, a time of hope, a time of courage." One could speak of the entire year in those words.

But, then again, we must be realistic. We did make mistakes, and we will probably continue to make mistakes. But, the value of mistakes must be found in a newer and more wholesome awareness of the situations involved. Only by continued joint efforts of dedication will we be able to surmount the problems facing us.

Perhaps, at this time, special recognition should be given to certain individuals who were true catalysts in the mutual dedication of the community.

Our President, Father Marion Bowman, has certainly proven himself to be concerned, and above all, involved. The enthusiasm with which he initiated the recently developed Think Tank to re-establish the directives of the College only serves to illustrate this fact.

If there is any individual on the campus who has shown to be most dedicated to the real concerns of the students, it is Sister Lucy. Sister has repeatedly shown herself to be truly understanding toward the student's needs. What is more, she has gone to great efforts to protect those needs.

Certainly, there are many others who deserve recognition, but space does not permit. However, mention must be made of one student who has done perhaps the most to make Saint Leo College "The People's Place". In fact, it was he himself who coined the phrase. As President of the Student Government Association, Angelo Zingales has successfully endeavored to make this Saint Leo College a better place in which to live.

As editor of The Lion, I wish to publicly announce my gratitude to this year's newspaper staff, especially my associate editors, Tom Adamczyk and Dave Bruno, who have worked so diligently in making this the most successful year of the student newspaper here at Saint Leo College.

Speaking as a former candidate for the Office of the President of Student Government, I wish the very best to our newly elected Student Body President, Peter Crover.

And to the student body of Saint Leo College: Without you, there would be no Lion — without you, there would be no Saint Leo. So, whatever you do, stick around and lend a hand. Remember — it's the place to be; it's The People's Place.

News From Student Affairs

St. Patrick's Day

Thanks to Mr. Solomon, the cafeteria staff, Mr. Baker, and the Department of Student Affairs, St. Patrick's Day, 1971, was a memorable one. The above realized the importance of the holiday and did their best to make it more meaningful. We will plan to have another "get together" sometime before the end of the school year. Anyone volunteering to help organize it, see Sister Lucy.

Men's Residence Halls

Men's Residence Halls will cut down considerably on student assistants for 1971-72. More adults will be hired to serve as Head Residents. Student employees will be called Resident Assistants rather than floor directors.

The position of Dean of Men's Housing will be discontinued with his duties being assumed by Mr. Crosby, Dean of Men.

The Villa

The question of what to do with the Villa is still undecided. Sister Lucy has wanted for several years to provide a special area for 21 year old women. Thirty-five eligibles recently attended a meeting to discuss the possibilities. The Villa accommodates thirty residents.

Dept. of Student Affairs to lose eight employees

The Student Affairs Department will be minus eight persons next year due to its reduced budget.

Mr. Gerald Schambeau, Director of Student Service since its initiation, will not be here. More service-oriented organizations will hopefully be formed to replace the assistance given by the defunct student service program.

The Counseling Center will be reduced to one with the release of Mr. Donald Simpson and the retirement of Monsignor Gingras. Wade Hopkin will be the new director.

Mrs. Lucille Young, Director of Women, will be replaced by Miss Rosa Fernandez, who will be in charge of all women's activities. The position of Director of Women's Housing will be eliminated. By having Miss Fernandez live in the dorms, the school will also cut down on housemothers. Miss Fernandez will oversee the entire operation with the assistance of one housemother and resident student assistants.

Miss Yvonne Carey, Secretary to the Director of Women, and Miss Kathy Schrader, Secretary to the Directors of Student Organizations and Spiritual Life, will be released.

Mrs. Mary Maddox will serve as secretary to both Director of Men and Director of Women.

The Financial Aid Program will still be in operation, but without the services of Mr. Peter Little. Just how the program will be administered is not yet determined.

Mr. Allen Seibert will not be with the Residence Hall maintenance staff.

Scranton vs. Kerner Performance

by Bill Tuson

The Scranton commission on campus unrest has wasted a lot of money. It has contributed nothing to solving the problem or providing understanding.

The Scranton view of violence is essentially the same as the Kerner view. Both commissions found that violence occurs and that it must be condemned. Both assumed the root causes of violence to be sociological. Both condemned the "repression" by the police. Both called for reconciliation. The similarity of outlook suggests that there is no real difference between the Johnson panel and the Nixon panel.

The roots of strife in the major universities are not sociological — they are political. Campus violence in America has been organized and launched by such groups as the S.D.S. and the Youth International Party. A good example of this was a week before the tragedy at Kent State. Jerry Rubin, Youth International Party leader, was on that campus preaching his gospel of violence. Among his most controversial excerpts (which were not recorded in the Kent State student paper), Rubin said: "The first part of the Yippie program is to kill your parents. And I mean that quite literally. Our parents are our first oppressors."

It is sheer misrepresentation to ascribe this ruffian, Jerry Rubin, as a fighter for sociological causes. He and his other six Chicago criminals have been trying for some time to destroy our educational system by their advocacy of violence on the campuses of our major universities.

It is the cry of the campus revolutionaries that any restraint of their violent activities is "repression". The Scranton commission, like the Kerner commission before it, has abetted this tactic with criticism of police and National Guard anti-riot activity. Both commissions falsely equated the force used by police with the violence of criminals. They criticized a lack of police restraint; when, in fact, restraint of police by politicians has been an invitation to violence on and off campus.

The man who breaks the law encounters the force of the community in the person of the police. The community must use all force needed to restrain or apprehend the lawbreaker. It may well be that the person defying the law by flight or resistance will suffer injury greater than a court would assess for his offense. That consequence is on his own head as the just penalty for defying the law.

The Scranton commission is indeed little better than the Kerner commission.

Campus-wide Dollar Club

Due to many inquiries from Saint Leo College faculty members, staff and students, as to how an individual can in some small way assist the Benedictine Boys Village, the staff at the Village has come up with the following suggestion:

Mail $1.00 to: Benedictine Boys Village; Saint Leo, Florida 33574.

This once only appeal allows everyone on campus to become a shareholder in the future destiny of youth.

Your dollar will go to work immediately — providing food, clothing, medical assistance, etc. There are no meetings to attend, no forms to complete and no overhead to reduce the value of the dollar you contribute.

Monarchs' Sports Program Ends First Year In NCAA

by David J. Schulte

With the close of the 1970-71 school year at Saint Leo, the Monarch sports program completes its fourth year in active competition with schools in Florida and its first year in the National Collegiate Athletic Association. Overall, teams at Saint Leo have played to the best of their ability and the sportsmanship typical of Saint Leo.

Soccer

The 19 man team coached by John Swart compiled a two win and twelve loss season against such teams as the University of Florida, Jacksonville University, Stetson and Florida Southern College. Starters for the Monarchs include James Martin of Mexico, Peter Morris of Rochester, N.Y., Jim Crane of Huntington, N.Y., Bob Baker of Brick Church, N.J., Carmen Santoro of Rockville, Maryland, James Altieri of Trumbull, Conn., and Doug Capers of Poughkeepsie, N.Y. All are back next year for competition that will include tough practice sessions and an equally hard schedule. Only time will tell if the Monarchs can get on the winning road.

Basketball

The Saint Leo Monarchs opened their 1970-71 season with a 77 to 63 loss to Stetson University, from then on it was all downhill as the Monarchs won 16 and lost 7 in their first year in the NCAA. Coached by Norm Kaye, the Monarchs traveled from Texas to Louisiana beating such teams as North Texas State, Bethune-Cookman College, McNeese State College of Louisiana and Florida Southern College of Lakeland.

Members of the team included

Kaye will be hard pressed to find a replacement for 6'8 Mike O'Brien who set 16 modern day Saint Leo basketball records, and his 33.0 average which was second in the nation among NCAA college division teams. He was the ninth round draft choice of the Kentucky Colonels of the ABA.

Tennis

The 1971 Saint Leo tennis team, coached by Mr. Thomas Crosby, is made up of Seniors Jack Rueve, Tom Libby and Bill Kiley. Also, Juniors Kevin Roberts and Charles Gambrell are part of the team and Sophomores Larry Siragusa and Bill Tully round out the team.

This year's team faces a tough schedule of eleven matches including matches with Stetson, Florida Atlantic, Florida Tech and Upsala College. Only time will tell if the Monarchs can repeat their winning ways.

Baseball

The 1971 Monarch baseball team is in the midst of having a good year. Coached by Bill Meyer, the team has responded to wins over Biscayne College, Stetson, South Florida, Austin-Peay State University, David Lipscomb College, Valdosta State, University of Penn. and Georgia and Brown University.

Leading hitters of the team include: Chuck Sousa of Somerset, Mass., Ken Kamradt of Chicago, Ill., Emil Bucci of Greenwich, Conn., Rick Teele of Brooksville, Florida, Dan Leitzell of Bellefonte, Pa., Marty Tobias of New York, Jim Mariucci of Rahway, New Jersey, Ted Delpapa of Coral Gables, Florida, and Al Valentine, the pride of Dade City, Florida.

Pitchers include: Seniors Kevin Carlin of Cambria Heights, N.Y., Dave Chaney of Lakeland, Florida and Dave Korczykowski of South Holland, Ill. Juniors include: Danny Evans of Miami, Florida, and Sophomores Dennis Harrigan, Jim Lasher and Mike Reichart. Currently the Monarchs have won 15 and lost 7 in their season.

Organizational News

Inter Club Council

The Inter Club Council is the board which regulates and assists all student organizations except fraternities, sororities and student government organizations.

This year, the I.C.C. has created a greater role for clubs and organizations. The I.C.C. is an important and effective cog in the wheel of student activities.

This school year soon evaporates, however, and next year will bring new leadership to the I.C.C. These officers were chosen in the Inter Club Council election, Tuesday, March 16: Ted Vinci - President; Dave Bruno - Vice President; and Wesley Rader - Secretary-Treasurer.

Ted Vinci is a representative to the I.C.C. for the Varsity Club. Dave Bruno is the representative this year from the Drama Club, he is also a member of the Knights of Columbus and the Circle K Club. Wes Rader represents the Knights of Columbus.

The Inter Club Council is a part of the Executive Committee of the Student Government Association.

This past year's officers were Charles F. Eason - President; John W. Frank - Vice President; Louise Boyle - Secretary; and David A. Bruno - Treasurer.

Circle K

The Circle K Club of Saint Leo College is currently planning to take part in the climax of the Circle K year - the Florida District Convention.

This year's state convention is to be held at the Cypress Gardens Sheraton Motor Inn in Cypress Gardens on April 1, 2, and 3rd.

Fifteen members and five K-ettes (little sisters) will be present from Saint Leo for the occasion.

One of the highlights of the convention will be Charlie Eason's campaign for the position of Governor of the Florida District of Circle K. Charlie is a Past-President of the Saint Leo Circle K Club and is currently Administrative Coordinator for the Florida District.

The Saint Leo Club also plans on taking an active part in the many areas of award competition. Steve

Lynch, a new member of the club, has been nominated for the Outstanding Circle K-man in Florida. Ursula Steffany, a K-ette of the Saint Leo Circle K Club, has been nominated for the Outstanding Female Associate of the Circle K in Florida.

Knights of Columbus

A golf tournament is now in progress. The Knights of Columbus has arranged, by special permission of the Saint Leo Golf Course, to sponsor a golf tournament. Everyone is invited to play and compete - and win.

We have offered first and second place prizes: $10 and $5 respectively.

A golf tournament is easy to enter - register any time between now and Friday, April 2, at the Golf Course. It's easy to play - simply play 18 holes and record your score. And, it's easy to win - the best score submitted wins the contestant the prize. Second place wins half as much.

The more entrants we have registered, the more and larger our prizes will be. There's one catch: each player has to pay just one dollar to be eligible to win.

Winners will be announced Saturday, April 3, 1971.

Also the Knights of Columbus has announced a Scholarship and Loan program available to students.

Elections of officers is this Thursday, April 1, 1971, during the regular meeting.

It's been a great year. Look forward to hearing from us next year. We have a great year ahead of us.

Our thanks to everyone, especially Father Sullivan, for everything!

Phi Theta Chi

The brothers of Phi Theta Chi are now happy to say they finally won a Greek Weekend. They are also undefeated in softball and are looking forward to keeping the Round Robin.

Installation of officers for the coming year will take place as soon as they are elected.

Yogi and Teddy Athens are both proud of receiving recognition from the I.F.C. for sportsmanship and spirit - not necessarily in that order.

Congratulations to Muck for being pinned (down). Goodbye Mr. Nice Guy Chas.

Drama Club

The Drama Club has been working behind the scenes, so to speak, here at Saint Leo planning, organizing, helping and most recently, electing new officers for the coming year.

The officers elected are Sharon Ridenour, President; Elizabeth Patterson, Vice President; Bev Boroughs, Secretary; and Dave Bruno, Treasurer.

Annually, the Drama Club sponsors an Awards Banquet, at which recognition is announced for those student actors and directors who have been selected by fellow students and faculty who have seen this year's productions. This year's Awards Banquet is coming soon.

Also, although not noticeable but noteworthy, the Drama Club has been renovating the theatre. Painting the make-up room and proceeding to improve the inner areas of the stage is one of their activities at this time.

Phi Tau Omega

The sisters of Phi Tau Omega sorority wish to congratulate the winners of Greek Weekend (Alpha Sigma) and to thank our coach Mr. Dennis Buckley for his efforts and the time which he gave to the girls. We would also like to congratulate Miss Linda Deitz, the new Greek Goddess.

Since another eventful year has come to an end, so have the work projects. But we still have a few to go. Phi Tau Omega will be sponsoring the Talent Show on the first of April for all the student body to participate in. We would appreciate all offers to be in the show. Get in contact with Sharon Ridenour or Jane Reilly, second floor New Dorm before the 30th of March. The sisters are also assisting at the Palm Sunday candlelight mass.
